And His Body Lay Unnoticed Until a Fireman of Another Train Discovered It—Dead Man was a Laborer, Unmarried and 32 Years of Age.

Robert Tice, aged 32 years, a laborer employed for several years by Harrison S. Rinehart, was killed by a west bound train early yesterday morning. The man, it is evident, was walking along the C. & P. railroad, and near the Faulk flour mills a west bound train struck him. Marks along the edge of the railroad ties show that the man was dragged along the road for a short distance, and his body was found not less than 10 feet west of Washington street.

Not until the early eastern train stopped at the passenger station yesterday was the accident known. The fireman of this train saw the dead body lying along the side of the track, the head but a few inches from the rails. The train was stopped, the man laid upon the small bank on the north side of the track and Night Watchman Maple, of the passenger station, was notified of the accident.

Word was immediately sent to Undertaker John Rinehart and for the patrol and the mangled body was removed to a room in the small brick building on the rear of the old McKinnon property on Washington street and Pink alley. Here the body was prepared for burial.

Just what time, and by what train this man was struck may never be known, although the body had been lying by the tracks for several hours. Practically all the bones in the body were broken. The right leg was broken between the knee and ankle, the right arm mashed between the elbow and wrist and the shoulder blade was also broken. There was also a deep gash in the forehead over the left eye, and several cuts on other parts of the body.

When his clothing was searched two pay envelopes were found in his inside coat pocket, together with a small tintype photograph, generally believed to be that of himself, and two small books. Written on the inside of the cover pages was the following: "Robert Tice, Wade P. O., Washington county, O." The dead man is a brother of Mrs. Mary Pool, residing on Ravine street, where the body was taken at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. His brother, John Tice, resides in the East End, and also a cousin, William Tice. By the pay envelopes found on the body, one contained when he received it $3.50, while another contained $16.25, from which 85 cents had been deducted before he received it. In cash only $4.55 was found. This, with other trinkets found, were turned over to his relatives.

The body will be taken to New Matamoras this evening for interment. Tice was a single man and of his parents, only his father is living. He was last seen by his relatives in this city Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock when he left the home of his sister, Mrs. Pool.

SEASON'S WORK REVIEWED

New Century Club Told of the Past Year And Elected Officers.

The last meeting of the year of the New Century club was that held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Betsy Pittenger. The meeting was wholly of a business nature and the officers for the ensuing year were elected.

The summary of the year's work was quite interesting, each member giving some idea of the benefit she had derived from the several meetings. Mrs. A. S. Young, the secretary, and

Mrs. Kate Harker, the treasurer, then submitted their reports.

The new officers elected were: President, Miss Kate Harker; secretary, Miss Carrie Newell; treasurer, Miss Murray Nickle.

The society will next year study subjects under the topic, "The United States And Its Relations to Other Countries." It also decided to have an outing some time during the summer at Mineral Springs, near Fairview, at a date not yet decided upon. The society adjourned to meet in October.

LIGHTNING'S STROKE

SET A SIXTH STREET BUILDING ON FIRE SUNDAY.

Firemen Made Haste Through Driving Rain And Prevented a Serious Blaze.

While the storm was in the midst of its fury Sunday afternoon the dreaded fire bell pealed forth and called an immense crowd of people out in the beating, dashing rain to 158 Sixth street, the scene of the blaze. The building is owned by Michael J. Cloran and is occupied on the first floor by him and his saloon and the second story is used as his living apartment.

The quick response of the firemen saved a fierce fire. Its origin was the result of lightning striking an electric light wire which runs into the building, the electricity coming in contact with both the inside and the outside of the building immediately over the doorway of the first floor, instantly igniting the dry boards. When the firemen arrived they had some difficulty in reaching the flames, but this accomplished, they soon had them extinguished with but a small loss by fire. The loss by water was, however, more serious, it being estimated at about $300.

The living apartments were completely covered with water and the saloon fixtures were well soaked. The alarm being sent in when the rain was positively blinding the firemen are certainly worthy of commendation for their speedy work. They prevented a most destructive fire, the scene being in the center of a business district and among a row of frame buildings.

Youngstown, May 26.—All the suburban street car lines between Leavittsburg and New Castle have been merged into the Pennsylvania & Mahoning Valley Railway company.

The New Castle Traction company, Trumbull Electric company, Mineral Ridge Railway company, New Castle & Lowell Railway company, Lawrence Gas company and New Castle Electric company are the concerns included.

Licensed to Marry.

Lisbon, May 26. — (Special) — Marriage licenses have been issued as follows:

John Heckathorn and Helen Myers, both of East Liverpool.

R. W. Boston and Edith May Ashman, both of Washingtonville.

Has a New Position.

Robert Green, who has been a member of the Alliance police force for the past several years, has been appointed a guard at the Stark county workhouse. His home is at Lisbon, and he is well known in East Liverpool.

Mute.

SPECTATOR HELPED HIM

And the Wheels of Justice Kept on Moving — Fines of $5.60 Imposed Upon a Number Who Tarried Long at the Wine.

In police court this morning the mayor was not confronted with the usual number of Saturday and Sunday offenders of the law. There were only six, and each was registered as a resident of the city with the plain drunk charge against them.

Officers Woods and Mahoney had their hands full when they tackled Daniel Lynch. Over six feet and weighing not less than 225 pounds he was certainly a load. To the charge he pleaded guilty and gave up $5.60. Curley Costello did not have a cent, but made arrangements to pay and was released. He was landed by Officer Morris.

Mike Strain, a brother of Jim, who is well acquainted with the mayor and his corps of protectors, staggered into Officer Aufderheide and had the pleasure of paying $5.60 for his awkwardness.

Because he wanted to run William Morrow's business and because he insisted on being the king bee, Alf Heakla was collared by Officer Dawson. For his ambition he was assessed and given orders to be more discreet hereafter.

When the mayor was informed that the next man to be arraigned was a mute he threw up his hands and exclaimed in tones of despair: "What will I do? He can't talk and what can I tell him?" A spectator conversant with the mute language offered his services and was allowed to try the case.

"John Broadbent, you are charged with being drunk and disorderly," said the spectator. "Are you guilty or not?"

By a nod of his head John acknowledged his guilt.

"The sentence then promulgated is that you pay a fine of $1 and costs and that you stand committed and be imprisoned in the city jail until both are paid or secured to be paid, or otherwise released according to law."

"I am broke," was John's rejoinder. "but I work in the Chester tin mill and will give you an order."

"Your order is worthless coming from that concern—lock him up, marshal."

With this the peculiar case ended and the temporary mayor was given a table and released. Broadbent, it was also learned during the hearing, was in company with Robert Tice, the mute who met his death in a horrible manner Sunday morning, a few minutes before the fatal accident occurred. He expressed sorrow when told of his friend's mishap, but could offer no explanation of how he met his fate.

William Shepard was the last man up. He was arrested by Officer Morris and paid the customary fine for intoxication.

ELOQUENT ADVICE TO THE GRADUATES

Impressive Baccalaureate Sermon Delivered by Rev. Edwin Weary.

Desire for Wealth Not to Be Encouraged—To Be Useful to the World And Live Christian Lives the Great Desideratum.

The baccalaureate sermon to the high school class of 1902 was preached at St. Stephen's Episcopal church last evening to an unusually large congregation. The sermon was an eloquent and earnest one, and drew forth high praise from all who heard it.

Taking as his text Matthew xxiii, 31-32, "Ye are the children of them which slew the prophets; fill ye up then, the measure of the fathers," the speaker said in part:

The interesting occasion on which we are gathered together this evening, bringing before us as it does that which has now become a possibility placed within the reach of our children through the admirable system of our public schools, suggests to our minds, amongst other things the extreme importance of presenting some ideal life, especially that of our Divine Master, to the young people present, in its happiest and most attractive aspect.

Young people are naturally disposed toward gaiety, pleasure and mirth. There is a certain natural and proper hilarity about youth which no wise man will either ignore or seek to repress, but this very characteristic of youth makes them somewhat indisposed to listen to words of more serious counsel, and disinclined to graver reflection. As a matter of fact it is with some difficulty that we are able to bring young people to anything like thoughtfulness or seriousness.

You, my young people, have left forever, as you think, the examination room, but you are only entering the larger examination hall of life. The responsibility of this class is great, for you not only enter upon a new life at the time, but also an age of characteristic spirit. Leaving school life you go forth into life's school to grapple with some of the hard problems that the world will call upon you to solve, as you walk the various avenues of life now open before you. You will find yourselves at times very much alone, and will miss the learned counsel and wise direction of your teachers.

That you may be able to find strength and solace in such trying hours, let me for your guidance endeavor to place before you some ideal life that you may copy. I could do no better than present to you the perfect life of Christ. Keep Him ever before you, for He will never fail you when all others may.

Apart from the ideal man Christ Jesus—there are others—great men, who have lived, and though dead, yet speak. Let me take out of the many noble characters recorded in sacred history, that of St. John, the Baptist, and let us consider some of the lessons suggested by that memorable life. We live in a world as sleek and as evil as that to which John preached; and

DEADLY LIGHTNING

CAME NEAR TO TWO MEN STANDING UNDER A TREE.

The Tree Was Shattered, But They Escaped Without Injury Except a Shock.

Two men, named Gorley and Cassidy, came dangerously near meeting death Sunday afternoon during the terrific thunderstorm.

They were standing under a tree in the old cemetery, located in the West End, for shelter from the rain, when a bolt of lightning struck it at the top and went crashing down to the ground, but luckily, for the men, on the opposite side of the tree from where they were standing. Both were badly shocked, but were worse scared, and will suffer no ill effects from their exciting experience.

Residents.

Lisbon, May 26. — (Special) — Hamilton Adams, of this town, got drunk yesterday and went in swimming in the creek near the Jackson street bridge in the bathing suit provided for him by nature. This so shocked the residents of the East End that a policeman was sent for.

Hamilton became aware of what was going on and started a tour up town. He and the officer had a lively sprinting match across lots and through streets and alleys before he was captured and locked up.

HIS CRIME A FIENDISH ONE

And Caused Such Extreme Indignation That the Formation of the Mob
Resulted—The Criminal Has Been
In Hiding Since His Crime.

According to information that has reached the police, Jacob Steele, the supposed demented negro who made a vicious and outrageous assault upon William Farmer while he was sleeping at his home in Chester Tuesday night, ought to be glad he is alive today. At least 25 laborers of the Chester tin mill were on his trail Saturday night.

Since the story of the man's crime leaked out small crowds have been seen congregated on the streets and corners of Chester, talking earnestly but quietly, and it is now known that the subject of their conversation was the deed and its perpetrator. They were evidently much worked up. When word reached Chester Saturday night that the negro had been seen in the "Smoky Row" district of East Liverpool it was scarcely 10 minutes before a crowd of the mill men had procured two skiffs and were on their way to the city, armed and carrying a long rope, eager for a sight of the negro.

After landing on the Ohio shore the mob separated into four platoons, each starting in an opposite direction, but with the instruction to meet later at a designated place on Second street. If perchance any party ran across the criminal an alarm was to be given as quietly as possible and the mob would again form.

Until after 1 o'clock Sunday morning the parties scoured the lower parts of the city, but in vain. In a disgusted and disappointed mood they were compelled to return to the other side.

What the mob would have done had the man been apprehended can only be surmised.

Officer McDermott states that, from what he heard Sunday morning, after the chase had been given up, he is confident that the mob had a tree designated and everything in readiness to hang the man before the law could interfere.

The negro quarters of the city were scenes of intense excitement when the story became current. All swore that they had never seen the fellow, but would help to get him if he showed up.

Word from Steubenville states that Steele is located in that city, and it is likely that the authorities will investigate. They, however, believe that he is in hiding among the hills of West Virginia and do not anticipate finding him in this locality.

No Meeting Was Held.

There was to be a union meeting in the interests of the Anti-Saloon league in the Second Presbyterian church yesterday at 4 p. m. All arrangements had been made by the churches for such a meeting, but about 9 o'clock Saturday night Mr. Hare, a representative of the league, came to the East End and notified the East End pastors that the anti-saloon people would not hold an afternoon meeting, and Mr. Hare called off the meeting that was to be held in the Second church.

Injured By a Brakedown.

Lisbon, May 26. — (Special) — As George Harrington, a farmer, living near Logtown, was driving home Saturday evening with his wife, baby and little girl, the kingbolt of his buggy broke. In the spill which followed Mrs. Harrington had her nose broken and Mr. Harrington was kicked in the face and badly cut.

Class Pins Selected.

The senior class of the high school, after waiting some time, has at last received its class pins. The pins are quite unique, being made of sterling silver and artistically carved. They bear the letters and numbers, "E. L. H. S., 1902."

DEADLY LIGHTNING

CAME NEAR TO TWO MEN STANDING UNDER A TREE.

The Tree Was Shattered, But They Escaped Without Injury Except
a Shock.

Two men, named Gorley and Cassidy, came dangerously near meeting death Sunday afternoon during the terrific thunderstorm.

They were standing under a tree in the old cemetery, located in the West End, for shelter from the rain, when a bolt of lightning struck it at the top and went crashing down to the ground, but luckily, for the men, on the opposite side of the tree from where they were standing. Both were badly shocked, but were worse scared, and will suffer no ill effects from their exciting experience.

IN NATURE'S CARB

A Lisbon Man Went Swimming in a Creek And Snocked the Residents.

Lisbon, May 26. — (Special) — Hamilton Adams, of this town, got drunk yesterday and went in swimming in the creek near the Jackson street bridge in the bathing suit provided for him by nature. This so shocked the residents of the East End that a policeman was sent for.

Hamilton became aware of what was going on and started a tour up town. He and the officer had a lively sprinting match across lots and through streets and alleys before he was captured and locked up.

Police Believe Chester Mill Men Wanted to String Up the Colored Man.

ROPE AND TREE READY

But the Intended Victim Succeeded in Keeping Out of Harm's Way.

HIS CRIME A FIENDISH ONE

And Caused Such Extreme Indignation That the Formation of the Mob
In Hiding Since His Crime.

According to information that has reached the police, Jacob Steele, the supposed demented negro who made a vicious and outrageous assault upon William Farmer while he was sleeping at his home in Chester Tuesday night, ought to be glad he is alive today. At least 25 laborers of the Chester tin mill were on his trail Saturday night.

Since the story of the man's crime leaked out small crowds have been seen congregated on the streets and corners of Chester, talking earnestly but quietly, and it is now known that the subject of their conversation was the deed and its perpetrator. They were evidently much worked up. When word reached Chester Saturday night that the negro had been seen in the "Smoky Row" district of East Liverpool it was scarcely 10 minutes before a crowd of the mill men had procured two skiffs and were on their way to the city, armed and carrying a long rope, eager for a sight of the negro.

After landing on the Ohio shore the mob separated into four platoons, each starting in an opposite direction, but with the instruction to meet later at a designated place on Second street. If perchance any party ran across the criminal an alarm was to be given as quietly as possible and the mob would again form.

Until after 1 o'clock Sunday morning the parties scoured the lower parts of the city, but in vain. In a disgusted and disappointed mood they were compelled to return to the other side.

What the mob would have done had the man been apprehended can only be surmised.

Officer McDermott states that, from what he heard Sunday morning, after the chase had been given up, he is confident that the mob had a tree designated and everything in readiness to hang the man before the law could interfere.

The negro quarters of the city were scenes of intense excitement when the story became current. All swore that they had never seen the fellow, but would help to get him if he showed up.

Word from Steubenville states that Steele is located in that city, and it is likely that the authorities will investigate. They, however, believe that he is in hiding among the hills of West Virginia and do not anticipate finding him in this locality.

No Meeting Was Held.

There was to be a union meeting in the interests of the Anti-Saloon league in the Second Presbyterian church yesterday at 4 p. m. All arrangements had been made by the churches for such a meeting, but about 9 o'clock Saturday night Mr. Hare, a representative of the league, came to the East End and notified the East End pastors that the anti-saloon people would not hold an afternoon meeting, and Mr. Hare called off the meeting that was to be held in the Second church.

Injured By a Brakedown.

Lisbon, May 26. — (Special) — As George Harrington, a farmer, living near Logtown, was driving home Saturday evening with his wife, baby and little girl, the kingbolt of his buggy broke. In the spill which followed Mrs. Harrington had her nose broken and Mr. Harrington was kicked in the face and badly cut.

Class Pins Selected.

The senior class of the high school, after waiting some time, has at last received its class pins. The pins are quite unique, being made of sterling silver and artistically carved. They bear the letters and numbers, "E. L. H. S., 1902."

LEAKY GARBAGE WAGONS

Cannot Do Business in the East End. One Sent Up For Repairs.

Garbage wagons that travel the East End in the future must have air tight bottoms, or the arrest of the driver will be ordered by a councilman residing in that part of the city. Saturday morning one of these wagons was seen going along Pennsylvania avenue, and much of the garbage was falling through the bed of the wagon to the street. The odor was something terrible, and when it was discovered by Dr. Marshall the wagon was stopped, and the driver, under threat of arrest, was ordered to take the wagon to the city, and when he returned have a wagon with a good bed.

"Why," said Dr. Marshall, "a driver of such a wagon as that could collect all the garbage in the East End, and by the time he was ready to start to the garbage furnace he would not have half a load. We will not put up with such work as this."

The driver obeyed the bidding and started for the city immediately, not stopping to gather any more garbage in that part of the city during the morning.

AN INTERESTING GAME

Oakland Base Ballists Defeated the Ohioville Team on Saturday Afternoon.

One of the best base ball games ever seen in the East End was played last Saturday afternoon at Columbian park between the Oakland Athletic club and the Ohioville team. Of course the Oakland team won, and by a score of 12 to 8, but it is evident that some of the best work of the game was that of the visitors. The pitcher for the Ohioville team struck out 14 of the first 15 men up to the bat, but the errors of the other fielders of this team left a loop hole for the local team to win.

In all the Ohioville pitcher struck out 18 of the local players, but the best all-around playing was done by the Oakland boys. The game was an interesting one. It is likely another game will be played between these two teams within a short time. The attendance was large.

VERY EXPENSIVE RIDE

East Ender Went 20 Feet on a Train And It Cost Him $5.60.

Although Officer Fisher, of the East End, has made a number of arrests in the East End for train jumping, it seems that the practice has not yet been broken up. Yesterday a man giving his name as W. H. Brown, a well known married resident of the East End, jumped on a passing freight train and rode for about 20 feet. He was immediately stopped by Officer Fisher and placed under arrest. He appeared before Mayor Davidson this morning and paid $5.60, which is likely the highest priced ride the gentleman ever had.

At the same time John Lewis was arrested by Officer Fisher and for the same offense. He likewise contributed, $5.60 to the city treasury.

It is the purpose of Officer Fisher to arrest all persons caught jumping trains, no matter who they may be.

Steubenville District M. E. Conference Will Convene in Erie Street Church.

The meeting of the Steubenville district conference of the M. E. church will open this evening at the Erie Street M. E. church, and between 50 and 60 visiting ministers and delegates are expected to be present. The program as published in this paper several weeks ago will be closely followed, and tomorrow morning at 6:30 o'clock there will be a sunrise prayer meeting.

The meeting will close tomorrow evening, and at this session, the date and place for holding the next district meeting will be decided upon.

The attendance at the opening meeting gives promise of being very large.

Meeting Postponed For a Week.

There was to have been a meeting of division No. 52, Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of this city, Saturday evening, but it was deferred for one week, in order that all the members might have a chance to attend. When the cars were placed in the barn on Saturday night, or Sunday morning, it was too late for all the members to attend the proposed session, consequently the meeting was called off.

Storm Bothers Street Railway.

The storm of yesterday and last evening caused some inconvenience to the East Liverpool railway company.

Saturday evening several wires in the East End were blown down, which caused the cars to be run on any old schedule. Yesterday afternoon the lightning knocked out the machines on car No. 15, and it was compelled to be pushed to the power house by another car.

Small Suit Settled.

The attachment case of Morris Bros. of East Palestine, against B. A. Man-kins, of the East End, was settled in the court of Justice L. W. Carman Saturday evening. The amount involved was about $12.

Candidate to Preach.

The services at the Second United Presbyterian church next Sunday, both morning and evening, will be in charge of Rev. W. G. McVey, of Lawrence, Mass. He is a candidate for the vacant pulpit.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

James Blazier has removed his family from Mulberry street to his new home in Englewood.

J. E. Smith is confined to his home on St. George street with a threatened attack of pneumonia.

A little daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reed, of Georgetown. The young couple are well known in the East End.

Columbus, the child of Mr. and Mrs. K. Brannon, of Chaffinville, is very ill with typhoid fever. Its condition this morning was very low.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the Second U. P. church will give an entertainment in the Protected Home Circle hall tomorrow evening.

There will be a business meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church this evening. Some important missionary matters are to be considered.

Mrs. John Hays, who has been visiting her sister in Cincinnati for several weeks, returned home Saturday evening. Mrs. Hays made the visit for the purpose of visiting her sister, whom she had not seen since both were children.

SACRIFICED HER LIFE

Youthful Nurse, Granddaughter of a Millionaire, Fell a Victim to Smallpox.

Cleveland, May 26.—Separated from relatives and attended only by a nurse, Miss Florence M. Crocker, granddaughter of the late Millionaire T. D. Crocker, died Saturday morning at Lakeside hospital of smallpox. The young lady had relatives in East Liverpool.

The death of Miss Crocker was pathetic. She had spent three years of her life in Lakeside hospital, acquiring training to become a professional nurse.

A few weeks ago while caring for a patient at the hospital Miss Crocker was exposed to the disease. She was removed to the isolated ward as soon as symptoms of smallpox appeared, and was given the best of care. A special nurse and doctor attended exclusively to her constantly.

While she was breathing her last a grief-stricken group of relatives sat in the family home at 845 Euclid avenue. Mrs. Dora H. Crocker, the mother, widow of Otis Crocker, was denied a last word with her dying child by the strict rules of the health department. By her side sat Mrs. D. T. Crocker, the grandmother, and Theo. D. Crocker, a brother of the dying girl, who had been called home from the Ohio state university at Columbus, where he is a student. She was conscious to the last.

The dead girl was only 21 years old, and would have been graduated with her class at the hospital next week. She was a beautiful girl, and a favorite with all at the hospital.

A LAWYER'S EXPERIENCE.

The Story of a Convicted Man, a Pardon and a Politician.

"A good many years ago," said a well known Michigan lawyer who was reminiscing the other day, "I became greatly interested in a state prison case. A young farmer was charged with having driven off ten out of a flock of twelve sheep and sold them to a butcher. He put up a fair defense, but was convicted and sentenced to a term of three years.

"There were plenty of people who believed that he was perfectly innocent, and even the butcher who bought the sheep came in time to doubt if he had identified the right party. After the case had stirred up a whole county I took a hand in it. In my petition to the governor I had the evidence of the young man's father, mother and sweetheart, and I got eight of the jurors to sign it. I made out such a good case that the governor took it under advisement and finally agreed to issue a pardon. In speaking to me of the case he said:

"There is no sort of doubt in my mind that this was a case of mistaken identity, and I shall be only too glad to restore the young man to liberty."

"It became my pleasant duty to drive seven miles over the muddiest of roads to bear the news to the parents that a pardon was to be issued. The old man was under the weather and in bed in a room off the parlor. The wife received me and sobbed over the good news and then went in to break it to her husband. That partition wall was thin, and they both spoke in loud tones, and I plainly heard her say:

"Oh, Samuel, there's a man here who says our John is to be pardoned tomorrow!"

"You don't say!" he exclaimed.

"Yes; it's certainly so."

"Going to be pardoned right out, eh?"

"Yes; he is."

"Waal, waal, that's good news. Say, Mary, what a fool John was not to get the other two sheep while he was about it."

"I left the rejoicing farmhouse, intending to wire the governor to withhold the pardon," said the lawyer, "but it presently struck me that I had advanced about twenty good reasons why the young man couldn't be guilty, and I therefore decided to sing small and let things go on. He was duly pardoned and sent home, and the governor never met me for years after without congratulating me on rehabilitating an innocent man wrongly convicted!"—Detroit Free Press.

The Encroaching Lake.

One of the humorously attractive characteristics of a child is his large sense of personal importance. A little girl was walking with her father on the shore of a large lake, where the waves were gently lapping up on the beach. Suddenly one came up higher than the others and swept over her foot, when she exclaimed, "Oh, papa, the lake stepped on my toe!"

His Position in Politics.

"He's going in for politics. Wouldn't he make a splendid diplomat, though?" "What? Why, he's a deaf mute." "Exactly. Just think how easy it would be for him to be absolutely dumb when it was expedient." "Yes, but then he could never talk without showing his hand."—Philadelphia Record.

GARRIGAN A BISHOP.

Consecrated as Head of the Catholic See of Sioux City, Iowa.

POPE CONGRATULATED HIM.

Bishop Beaven* Officiated, Assisted by Others—Sermon Preached by Archbishop Keane—Services in Cathedral, at Springfield, Mass.

Springfield, Mass., May 26.—The Rt. Rev. Dr. Philip J. Garrigan, vicar of the Catholic university at Washington, was solemnly consecrated bishop of Sioux City, Ia., in St. Michael's cathedral Sunday.

The ceremony began at 10:30 o'clock and lasted four hours. Just before the close of the services a cablegram was received from Pope Leo XIII congratulating Bishop Garrigan and giving the papal blessing to him and his diocese.

The Rt. Rev. Thomas D. Beaven, bishop of Springfield, was the consecrator, assisted by the Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, rector of the Catholic university, and the Rt. Rev. Edward B. Allen, bishop of Mobile, Ala.

There were present 150 priests and prelates of the church, including Archbishop Williams, of Boston; Archbishop J. J. Keane, of Dubuque, Ia.; Bishop Dennis Bradley, of Manchester, N. H.; Bishop Matthew Harkins, of Providence, R. I.; Bishop P. A. Ludden, of Syracuse, N. Y.; Bishop Henry Gabriels, of Ogdensburg, N. Y.; Bishop John Brady, of Boston; Bishop John S. Michaud, of Burlington, Vt.; Bishop Michael Tierney, of Hartford, Conn., and Bishop M. A. Burke, of Albany.

The sermon was delivered by Archbishop Keane and was highly complimentary to Bishop Garrigan.

The new bishop expects to remain in the east until the middle of June, when he will go to his diocese.

Large Mass Meeting Held—Delegates Occupied Pulpits Sunday—Missionary Services.

Baltimore, May 26.—Delegates to the fourteenth triennial general synod of the Reformed church held a largely attended mass meeting in Ford's opera house Sunday afternoon. The Sunday school and young people's society work were discussed. Addresses were made as follows: "The Sunday School Teacher an Inspiring Personality," Rev. Prof. George W. Richards, Lancaster, Pa.; "The Last Words of Our Saviour," Miss Elinor S. Lutes, Philadelphia; "The Relation of the Sunday School to the Benevolent Work of the Church," Rev. Theodore F. Herman, Lafayette, Ind.; "From the Child's Standpoint," Rev. J. H. Bomberger, D. D., Cleveland, O.; "The Relation of the Young People's Society to the Missionary Work of the Church," Rev. A. R. Bartholomew, D. D., Allentown, Pa.

All the pulpits of the Reformed churches in the city, as well as many of those of other denominations, were occupied Sunday by the visiting clergymen. A communion service was held in the First church during the forenoon.

Services in the interest of home and foreign missionary work were held in all the Reformed churches last night.

ANNUAL MISSIONARY SERMON.

Listened to by Baptists—Young People's Union Sessions Begun.

St. Paul, May 26.—Baptists from all parts of the country, Sunday morning, at the Central Presbyterian church, listened to the annual missionary sermon, a feature of anniversary week. The audience was exceptionally large. Dr. A. C. Dixon's sermon was largely allegorical, based on the vision of the prophet Ezekiel. Visiting ministers occupied the pulpits of many of the Protestant churches, both morning and evening.

The sessions of the Baptist Young People's union began yesterday afternoon. The attendance was large. The annual convention of the union will not occur until July. Yesterday's meetings were therefore, largely of a preparatory nature.

The American Baptist Home Mission society will continue the sessions of its seventieth anniversary today, which were begun on Saturday. The annual election of officers will be held in the afternoon, and in the evening an open parliament will precede the addresses on western mission work. The evening session will close the annual meeting of the organization, the last of the great church societies to convene.

Pennsylvanian Moderator.

Abilene, Kan., May 26.—The business sessions of the International River Brethren conference closed Sunday. Rev. Martin Oberholzer, of Pennsylvania, was elected moderator; Rev. George Detwiler, of Abilene, and Rev. Frederick Elliot, of Canada, secretaries. The conference voted not to allow the use of organs in the churches and located the church paper at Harrisburg, Pa., where next year's conference will be held.

PRIESTS TALKED TO STRIKERS.

In Some Churches Foreigners Urged to Stick to Leaders—Other Workmen May Strike.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 26.—The circular which President Mitchell sent out Saturday warning the Polish, Slavish and Lithuanian miners to remain away from the bituminous region of Virginia and West Virginia where strikes are now in progress, was read in many of the churches Sunday where the foreign miners attend services. Some of the clergy made remarks urging the strikers to be law-abiding and be guided by their leaders, so long as the leaders were faithful to the trust reposed in them. Some of the Polish and Lithuanian clergymen are said to be opposed to the strike, or were opposed to it before it was declared, on the ground that the people entrusted to their spiritual care were not prepared to stand a long siege of idleness.

Secretary Mullahy, of the Stationary Firemen's union, reported yesterday that the poll of the foremen employed at the various collieries has just been completed and that over 90 per cent of the men will quit work on June 2 unless an eight-hour day is granted them. Another officer of the union admits that the percentage of engineers who will quit work will not be as large, but nearly so. What percentage of the pumpmen will come out is not as yet known. If the local operators are to be believed, it will be small and there will be no trouble in filling all vacancies that may occur.

Meetings of railroad men to discuss the advisability of refusing to handle non-union and bituminous coal during the progress of the miners' strike were held in Wilkesbarre, Kingston and Ashley yesterday afternoon. All three meetings were secret. It was given out that at the Wilkesbarre meeting no action was taken. The meeting at Kingston agreed to take the matter up at another meeting to be held next week. The Ashley meeting endorsed the miners' strike and will render financial aid. The railroad brotherhoods with headquarters in this city will also give financial assistance, but it is said will not resort to a sympathetic strike.

UNREST AMONG RUSSIANS.

Attempt to Assassinate Prince Obolensky—People Release Persons Arrested—Number Whipped.

St. Petersburg, May 26.—A report has reached here of an attempt to assassinate Prince Obolensky, governor of the government of Kharkoff, who was commended by the czar for suppressing the rioting among the peasants of that district.

Lieutenant General Von Wahl, governor of Vilna, whose assassination was recently attempted on account of his wholesale flogging of political prisoners, many of whom were educated, and who, according to custom, were, therefore, exempt from flogging, justifies these punishments on the ground that he was ordered to inflict them by M. Von Plohw, the minister of the interior.

Peasant political prisoners have also been whipped at Bilestock and other Polish towns.

Eighty persons who were arrested for taking part in revolutionary disturbances at Saratoff were confined in a private building there. A number of rioters concentrated in the vicinity of the building, contemplating a release. The rioters were charged several times by the troops before they dispersed, and the liberation of the prisoners was thus prevented.

Armed with daggers and sticks, the townspeople of Ghirzel, in the Caucasus, have liberated a score of prisoners who claimed they were innocent.

HONOR PAUNCEFOTE'S MEMORY.

Funeral to Be Largely of State Character—To Be Held in Episcopal Church, Wednesday.

Washington, May 26.—With the exception of a few details, the arrangements for the funeral services over the remains of Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador, who died Saturday morning, were completed last night.

Lady Pauncefote yesterday signified her approval of the arrangements tentatively made Saturday, by which services are to be held Wednesday, at noon, in St. John's Episcopal church, after which the body is to be temporarily deposited in a receiving vault at Rock Creek cemetery. A military escort will be provided by the war department to attend the funeral, which will be of a state character. A large number of messages of condolence from all over the world were received at the embassy Sunday, but they were not made public.

Serious Trouble Feared.

Elizaville, Pa., May 26.—Serious trouble is feared by citizens of this place this morning, when thousands of striking coal miners will attempt a march on the Ray coal mines, where Italians are employed, who have thus far refused to join the strike.

Milk preserved with formaldehyde has been the cause of several cases of serious illness in Columbus, according to physicians of that city. The wife of a professor at the State university was made dangerously ill by eating cream that had been treated with the dangerous preservative, and the result is that state and local health authorities are making a vigorous crusade to stop the traffic in "doctored" milk. A dairyman has been arrested, charged with selling poisoned milk, and the health authorities are piling up a mass of evidence, hoping to dispose of his case in a manner that will be an object lesson to other offenders. According to medical testimony, formalin, the formaldehyde product, is an irritant poison, and frequently causes death. Even in small quantities, in milk that is fed to babes and children, it is extremely dangerous. The fact that avaricious and unprincipled men are using this drug, with an utter recklessness of consequences, in treating a food in such universal use as milk, should arouse health authorities everywhere to the most vigorous efforts to punish the guilty ones and prevent the spread of the practice.

Governor General Wood gives a review of the developments in Cuba since the American occupation which will stand as an unquestionable record of fact. It may be said also that the record can be turned very properly to his own credit. Though the American occupation brought with it the power of beneficence, much depended upon the individuals who were chosen to carry on the American administration. If they had been generally of the character of Rathbone and Neeley there was no special claim to be found in the name American which would have been a guarantee of good government. Whatever has been accomplished has been a personal success for Governor Wood as well as a national success for his country. It should be recorded also that there is something more to his credit than the successes of administration alone. He has been a steadfast friend of the Cuban people, one of the most powerful and convincing advocates of that reciprocity which they desire so much. Both they and their American friends have been fortunate in the finding of such an able and honest public servant in a period of great emergency.

A work that a few years ago would have been considered impossible, or else would have required months of labor, was accomplished at New Brunswick, N. J., in less than two minutes. A railroad bridge 900 feet long was moved 14 1/2 feet in that time and satisfactorily placed in the new location prepared for it. Such triumphs of mechanical engineering are becoming so common that they have almost ceased to attract attention. Tasks that once would have occupied years if not a life-time are now accomplished in a few weeks or months. It is a progressive age, and American ingenuity and enterprise are all the time learning to do things with ease and dispatch that would have been marvelous in the eyes of our fathers.

According to Frederick Haynes Newell, there is no danger of the United States becoming overcrowded very soon. Mr. Newell has made a study of the subject, and finds that there are 100,000,000 acres, mainly government land, capable of being made fertile by irrigation. And there are other millions of acres, now neglected, capable also of producing good crops, as soon as they receive the proper attention from the man with the hoe.

Indiana is priding itself on the showing it is making in the literary world, and not without reason. A state that can claim such writers as Gen. Lew Wallace, James Whitcomb Riley, Charles Major, Booth Tarkington and Mary Hartwell Catherwood ought to be able to establish a strong claim to a good sized niche in the American Temple of Fame.

At the age of 82 the venerable Herbert Spencer has at last laid aside the pen that has exercised such a powerful influence upon the thought of his country. In his forthcoming volume, "Facts and Comments," Mr. Spencer announces that he has written his last book.

Again prophets have arisen, predicting that the world is coming to an end. It is surprising, considering the recent season of volcanic activity and attendant calamities, that they have delayed the announcement so long. The prophets are certainly less industrious than they used to be.

It has been discovered that there is a strata of warm air six miles above the earth. The coal trust will probably be after it with a New Jersey charter.

The beef packers say they are obeying the mandate of the court, but the price of beef remains at the top notch.

The Martinique residents who are emigrating are certainly doing wisely.

A beef steak saved is money earned.

POTTERY NEWS

The following, written by a member of one of the Sebring locals, will be read with interest by both manufacturers and members of the trade in this city: "Now that the national convention is over I desire to express my opinion of the business transacted at the convention. It seems to me that it is a wasteful expenditure of money to hold national conventions if they don't do any more business than was done at the Trenton convention. After hearing the delegates report I could only come to one conclusion and that was this, that the conference court will have more business to transact than the convention did. Every essential issue that was brought before the convention was referred to this committee. The only significant thing they did was to turn down the resolution that kindred workers be paid $1.75, thereby placing themselves on record as being the only convention of workingmen who have the hardihood to say that $1.50 is enough for a man to receive for a day's work. Now it seems to me that the proper thing for that convention to have done was to pass that resolution and if the conference committee couldn't work it through, why then they could probably make a compromise, even if it were only five cents. It seems there are too many, trolley rides, too many pictures taken, too many smokers, too many institutions visited, too many resolutions laid on the table indefinitely, too many things referred to the conference committee that should have been acted upon in the convention. I was disappointed in the way some resolutions were treated by the convention."

The movement at Trenton for the organization of several new locals is meeting with more success than was anticipated. There was only a small attendance at the meeting of the warehouse women Monday evening, but this is said to have been caused by another meeting which many of the warehouse women attended. The meeting was addressed by Vice President Frank H. Hutchins, of Trenton. Last Friday evening another meeting of these women was held at the same place, when it was expected a permanent organization would be formed. The pottery printers of Trenton also held a meeting last week at which no less than ten shops were represented. Thirty printers signed a paper favoring a local, and arrangements were made for another meeting next Thursday evening, and it may be that an application will be made for a charter at that time. The sagger makers of that city are also after an individual local. Members of this trade are in many instances affiliated with kilnmen's local No. 35, of Trenton, but the claim is made that if the sagger makers organize a separate local many sagger makers employed in the eastern plants, not now members of any local, will join the new organization.

Secretary T. J. Duffy, of the National Brotherhood of Operative potters, has sent a communication to the Trenton Sanitary Manufacturing Potters' association asking for a conference within the next thirty days to revise the price list which is now in force in the Trenton sanitary shops. About a week preceding the conference, the conference committee which was appointed at the last convention to meet the manufacturers, will meet in Trenton to prepare a price list from statistics obtained from the various plants. The majority of the sanitary potteries at Trenton are paying a fair price for the manufacture of sanitary ware, the price having been fixed by the several shop committees. Still a number of specialties have been introduced in the sanitary line during the past year for which no uniform price is paid. The object of the conference will be to make the prices more uniform. A new set of working rules will probably be drafted.

There will be practically six new potteries to come on the market for fall business—all built, equipped and manned for the highest efficiency in pottery manufacture and all backed with ample capital as well as controlled by the best experience. Two or three of these are already showing some excellent productions, but will not be fully ready with complete stocks till July. Four of them will manufacture high-grade semi-vitreous porcelain, viz: Thomas China company, Lisbon, six kilns; Shenango China company, New Castle, six kilns; Barberton Pottery company, Barberton; seven kilns; Laughlin China company, No. 3, twelve kilns—in all 31 kilns. The New Castle Pottery company, six kilns and the Dresden China company, Salineville, six kilns, will manufacture china exclusively.

With the completion of the new addition which the Monument Pottery company contemplates, it will be one of the largest manufacturing porcelain in Trenton. The main building, which is three stories high, with basement, is 150 feet long and 110 feet wide. The building will cost about $70,000. A new kiln shed is also being

Distress After Eating

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's. "I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." Mrs. WILLIAM G. BARRETT, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. I. Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

built, which measures 136 feet by 72 feet. The smaller building will have a capacity of six kilns, and will cost about $4,500 each. The plant, which is controlled by the L. Wolf Manufacturing company, of Chicago now has a capacity of 56 men. When the new addition is finished the plant will call for about 125 men.

The repairs to the Akron pottery, as a result of the late fire, have about been completed. The plant is now in operation but not in full. A small force is employed in the decorating department and the jiggersmen started work Thursday. All the glaze ware that was in the fire and damaged by smoke and water has been cleaned by washing, and much of this ware has been found to be in first class condition, and can be sold. By so doing the company can save considerable that would otherwise have been lost.

An operative working in one of the Akron potteries, ventures the following which will be read with interest: "The union label on ware will never prove the Archimedian lever that its promoters expect it to be. The future will prove this to be the case. It will have its agreeable and disagreeable features, and now that it is to be put in use the potters can soon discover how many pottery manufacturers are willing to avail themselves of its use in signing the agreement that goes with it."

A number of workmen at the Ford City pottery are in favor of having a eight-hour day law passed. They claim that if the operatives cannot make sufficient money during that length of time the prices of ware should be advanced so that the men need not be compelled to work from 10 to 12 hours a day to make reasonable wages. They desire, however, to see the 10-hour law enforced before the eight-hour law is asked.

Trade during the past week has been somewhat quiet, though some of the plants have been just as busy as ever. In one shop in particular the packers are rushed, and every cask packed is rushed to the station with marked speed. It is evident the jobbers have completed placing their orders for spring trade, and it will not be long now until orders for the fall business will be coming in.

There are over 1,000 pieces of ware in the Alice Maddock collection of pottery which was presented to the Trenton art school recently. Much of the ware is of foreign make, while about 600 pieces are from this and other countries. It has been said, and by pottery experts, that the gift will form the nucleus for a ceramic museum that will rank with the best in the nation.

In order that most of the day may be spent at Rock Springs park June 2 a number of the employees of the Lisbon pottery will come to the outing over the county road. If they came by train they would have very little time to spend with their friends in this city. It is expected that not less than 200 Lisbon people will be at the picnic.

Among the locals meeting this evening are turners and handlers, No. 10; pressers, No. 4; printers and transferers, No. 32; sagger makers, No. 16 and gilders No. 19. Some of the meetings give promise of being very interesting.

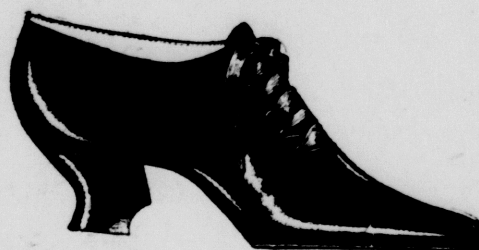

Phil A. Tallon, a kilnman employed in the Mercer plant, Trenton, died a few days ago as a result of injuries received several weeks ago. A bung of saggars fell on him, and he was confined in a hospital until his death.

Henry Holland is a new jiggerman at the Taylor plant at Chester. He was formerly at the Chelsea, New Cumberland.

The following, written by a member of one of the Sebring locals, will be read with interest by both manufacturers and members of the trade in this city. "Now that the national convention is over I desire to express my opinion of the business transacted at the convention. It seems to me that it is a wasteful expenditure of money to hold national conventions if they don't do any more business than was done at the Trenton convention. I was disappointed in the way some resolutions were treated by the convention."

The movement at Trenton for the organization of several new locals is meeting with more success than was anticipated. There was only a small attendance at the meeting of the warehouse women Monday evening, but this is said to have been caused by another meeting which many of the warehouse women attended. The meeting was addressed by Vice President Frank H. Hutchins, of Trenton. Last Friday evening another meeting of these women was held at the same place, when it was expected a permanent organization would be formed. The pottery printers of Trenton also held a meeting last week at which no less than ten shops were represented. Thirty printers signed a paper favoring a local, and arrangements were made for another meeting next Thursday evening, and it may be that an application will be made for a charter at that time. The sagger makers of that city are also after an individual local. Members of this trade are in many instances affiliated with kilndrawers' local No. 35, of Trenton, but the claim is made that if the sagger makers organize a separate local many sagger makers employed in the eastern plants, not now members of any local, will join the new organization.

Secretary T. J. Duffy, of the National Brotherhood of Operative potters, has sent a communication to the Trenton Sanitary Manufacturing Potters' association asking for a conference within the next thirty days to revise the price list which is now in force in the Trenton sanitary shops. About a week preceding the conference, the conference committee which was appointed at the last convention to meet the manufacturers, will meet in Trenton to prepare a price list from statistics obtained from the various plants. The majority of the sanitary potteries at Trenton are paying a fair price for the manufacture of sanitary ware, the price having been fixed by the several shop committees. Still a number of specialties have been introduced in the sanitary line during the past year for which no uniform price is paid. The object of the conference will be to make the prices more uniform. The New Castle Pottery company, six kilns and the Dresden China company, Salineville, six kilns, will manufacture china exclusively.

With the completion of the new addition which the Monument Pottery company contemplates, it will be one of the largest manufacturing porcelain in Trenton. The main building, which is three stories high, with basement, is 130 feet long and 110 feet wide. The building will cost about $70,000. A new kiln shed is also being

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's. "I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." Mrs. WILLIAM G. BARRETT, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. I. Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

built, which measures 136 feet by 72 feet. The smaller building will have a capacity of six kilns, and will cost about $4,500 each. The plant, which is controlled by the L. Wolf Manufacturing company, of Chicago now has a capacity of 56 men. When the new addition is finished the plant will call for about 125 men.

The repairs to the Akron pottery, as a result of the late fire, have about been completed. The plant is now in operation but not in full. A small force is employed in the decorating department and the jiggermen started work Thursday. All the glaze ware that was in the fire and damaged by smoke and water has been cleaned by washing, and much of this ware has been found to be in first class condition, and can be sold. By so doing the company can save considerable that would otherwise have been lost.

An operative working in one of the Akron potteries, ventures the following which will be read with interest: "The union label on ware will never prove the Archimedean lever that its promoters expect it to be. The future will prove this to be the case. It will have its agreeable and disagreeable features, and now that it is to be put in use the potters can soon discover how many pottery manufacturers are willing to avail themselves of its use in signing the agreement that goes with it."

A number of workmen at the Ford City pottery are in favor of having an eight-hour day law passed. They claim that if the operatives cannot make sufficient money during that length of time the prices of ware should be advanced so that the men need not be compelled to work from 10 to 12 hours a day to make reasonable wages. They desire, however, to see the 10-hour law enforced before the eight-hour law is asked.

Trade during the past week has been somewhat quiet, though some of the plants have been just as busy as ever. In one shop in particular the packers are rushed, and every cask packed is rushed to the station with marked speed. It is evident the jobbers have completed placing their orders for spring trade, and it will not be long now until orders for the fall business will be coming in.

There are over 1,000 pieces of ware in the Alice Maddock collection of pottery which was presented to the Trenton art school recently. Much of the ware is of foreign make, while about 600 pieces are from this and other countries. It has been said, and by pottery experts, that the gift will form the nucleus for a ceramic museum that will rank with the best in the nation.

In order that most of the day may be spent at Rock Springs park June 2 a number of the employees of the Lisbon pottery will come to the outing over the county road. If they came by train they would have very little time to spend with their friends in this city. It is expected that not less than 200 Lisbon people will be at the picnic.

Among the locals meeting this evening are turners and handlers, No. 10; pressers, No. 4; printers and transferers, No. 32; sagger makers, No. 16 and gilders No. 19. Some of the meetings give promise of being very interesting.

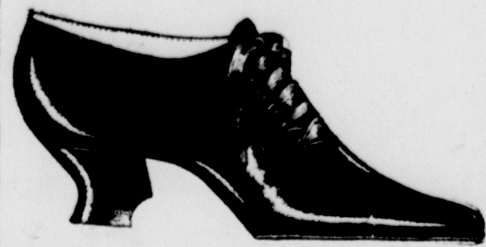

Phil A. Tallon, a kilnman employed in the Mercer plant, Trenton, died a few days ago as a result of injuries received several weeks ago. A bung of saggars fell on him, and he was confined in a hospital until his death.

CITY STORAGE HOUSE

Council Expected to Favor the Plan For New Building.

At the meeting of council a number of questions very important to the city's welfare will be presented for consideration and action. Among them will be whether or not a tool house will be built for the proper preservation of the city's working and street cleaning paraphernalia. Since the new street sprinkler and sweeper arrived it has been found that there is not room for all the apparatus. The tools were purchased by the city at a high price and council will most assuredly be sanctioned by every taxpayer in the city if it takes steps toward having the building erected and thereby saving a big expense in repairs.

It is estimated that ground can be purchased and the house built for less than $2,000. The old building, it is argued, can be rented for $500 per year, and if that be true the city will profit by having a new building erected that will fill all requirements. Quite a number of the old wagons and other implements that are only used occasionally and that have heretofore been under roof at the fire station can be removed to the house, and the firemen will be given plenty of room for the storage of the equipments.

Solicitor Boyd will likely address council on the advisability of the plan, and there is little doubt that the councilmen will look upon it favorably.

REPAIRING BAD PLACES

Plumbers And Others Who Tore Up Streets Are Now Mending Them.

The notice given by Mayor Fogo to all plumbers, sewer diggers and other persons who have in the past dug up paved streets at will, that they must repair all parts of the streets which they have torn up, is having the desired effect. The notice, it seems, was sufficient. The people for whose benefit it was issued are conforming to it as speedily as possible, and there will be no litigation or fine imposed if they continue as they have started.

The hundreds of chuck holes, which have for a year made the streets almost impassable and, to say the least, very aggravating to teamsters, bicycle riders and others, are being obliterated, and in a short time every street in the city will be in the first-class shape. Street Commissioner Herbert is taking unusual pains with the thoroughfare, and the result of his work is readily recognized. With his force of white wings and by the use of the sweeper and sprinkler, with but little effort, he keeps the streets scrupulously clean.

FIXING UP THE FLOOR

Important And Necessary Repairs in the Fire Department Headquarters.

Work was commenced this morning on the raising of the floor in the fire headquarters of the city building, which has sunk about three inches on one side of the building.

The improvement committee of council inspected the floor last week and decided that the work must be done at once. Girders will be placed underneath the floor to brace it.

Apple Trees For Beauty and Fruit.

Apple trees are so beautiful, even when bare of bloom and fruit, that they should be grown in pleasure gardens, like lilacs and laburnums. Tenyson speaks of orchard lawns, and there is no reason except bad taste why they should not have a real existence. The gloom of the fir tree, magnificent no doubt in its own northern forest, is mere incongruous dreariness when it is dotted about a suburban lawn. Nothing will thrive under it, and often it will not thrive itself, but the apple, with all the associated beauty of the countryside, gives us fruit and blossom and grateful shade. In the grass under it will grow daffodils, columbines, irises and many other plants, or it may be trained as a hedge to divide one part of the garden from another and with all these uses may still produce great crops of fruit. It would be a pleasant task for the suburban gardener with his half acre of ground to grow three or four choice apple trees with the care that others give to roses.—London Speaker.

BOUGHT A BIG SAFE

Dollar Savings Bank Officials Made an Important Purchase Saturday.

President George H. Owen and Cashier Harry Hall, of the recently incorporated Dollar Savings bank, which will be carrying on business within a few weeks, returned Saturday night from Buffalo, N. Y., where they purchased a safe for the bank which is beyond a doubt one of the largest and best. It is seven feet and nine inches high and five feet and five inches wide. On the inside it is 65 inches high; 55 inches wide and 28 inches deep.

The monster piece of mechanism is fireproof on the outside and burglar proof on the inside, making it one of the most valuable safes ever built. The purchase was made from the Cary Safe company, and it will be shipped in three weeks.

Mr. Harry Cavendish, who is but twenty-six, has already won a reputation as an explorer and hunter of big game. He has made several expeditions to Africa and has visited America in search of big game. Mr. Cavendish at one time showed marked attention to Edna May, the American actress.

One night the young explorer sat in a proscenium box and blissfully gazed at his innamorata while the fair Edna played to that box with all her power. Presently a huge bunch of gorgeous roses, American Beauties, were dropped on the stage at her feet. They came from the hands of Mr. Cavendish.

That was probably the most expensive bunch of roses that was ever presented to any one on the stage, for, not counting the roses, which were worth a dollar each, there was a cluster ring cunningly concealed among the blossoms that cost Mr. Cavendish not less than $2,500.

But that was a mere bagatelle compared with other gifts bestowed upon Miss May by Mr. Cavendish.

Mrs. Ralph Scraggs, of Avondale street, left this morning for Canton, where she will remain several days visiting friends.

Miss Gussie Miller, of Pittsburg, who has been visiting friends in this city for several days, returned to her home Sunday morning. She received word of the death of her cousin.

Thomas Jones, Albert Finn, Joseph Davis and William Humble left this morning for Lisbon, where they were summoned as witnesses in the case of Mrs. Riley McKinnon against the East Liverpool Street Railway company. They will return home this evening.

BOUGHT A BIG SAFE

Dollar Savings Bank Officials Made an Important Purchase Saturday.

President George H. Owen and Cashier Harry Hall, of the recently incorporated Dollar Savings bank, which will be carrying on business within a few weeks, returned Saturday night from Buffalo, N. Y., where they purchased a safe for the bank which is beyond a doubt one of the largest and best. It is seven feet and nine inches high and five feet and five inches wide. On the inside it is 65 inches high; 55 inches wide and 28 inches deep.

The monster piece of mechanism is fireproof on the outside and burglar proof on the inside, making it one of the most valuable safes ever built. The purchase was made from the Cary Safe company, and it will be shipped in three weeks.

STRIKE AT AN END

The Journeymen Plumbers Will Return to Work After Four Weeks Idleness.

After a loafing spell of just 28 days the journeymen plumbers will return to work tomorrow morning. The demand made by them was granted by all the bosses in every detail.

The scale is as follows: Four dollars per day for nine hours and 8 hours on Saturday, for eight months in the year and $3.50 per day for eight hours and seven hours on Saturday for the remaining four months.

The Difference.

Coming out of a woman's club: "The difference between my husband's club and mine," said the pretty woman in the turquoise colored toque, looking at her watch, "is that mine lasts from 2 until 6, and his lasts from 6 until 2."

MERE MEN.

Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, speaks five languages.

Jerry Simpson is a champion ping-pong player. He beat Governor Toole and several Montana stock millionaires at Helena lately.

Captain Orren A. Hamblett of Washington has purchased the historic Samuel Wilson house at Mason, N. H., the home of the original "Uncle Sam."

Admiral Sir Henry Keppel, now in his ninety-second year, has a great desire to die at sea. With that end in view he is constantly going on long voyages.

Colonel Mott Hooton, who has been made a brigadier general, is a native of Pennsylvania. His great-grandfather was a captain in the Revolutionary army.

Senator Clark of Montana is an enthusiastic automobilist. He rides about Washington on a ten thousand dollar "French flier" which he bought last year in Paris.

James R. Garfield, the new member of the civil service commission, has been assigned the desk at which President Roosevelt worked while president of the board of civil service commissioners.

Edward L. Adams of Elmira, N. Y., who has been appointed consul general at Stockholm, Sweden, was graduated from the University of Rochester in 1875 and began his newspaper career on the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Herr Kaufmann, whose election as second burgomaster of Berlin the kaiser declined to sanction on account, it is supposed, of his former political opinions, has suddenly become mad. Some people in Berlin are ascribing his madness to disappointment in consequence of the kaiser's action.

Under the will of Colonel Blanton Duncan, a wealthy Kentuckian who died recently in California, twenty-one Kentuckians and forty-seven residents of other states are named as legatees. Each is to receive $1,000. Among the beneficiaries of the will is Ab Ah Sam, a Louisville Chinaman, who had long been a friend of the testator.

PEN, CHISEL AND BRUSH.

Miss Lillian Thomas, who painted the last portrait President McKinley ever sat for, has taken that portrait to Washington, where it will be exhibited at the Corcoran Art gallery.

Bartholdi, who created the statue of Liberty now standing in New York harbor, has made a design for a colossal monument for Belfort, France, to commemorate its three famous sieges of 1814, 1870 and 1871.

In spite of his hurry while in the United States Prince Henry found time to give sittings to an American painter, George Burroughs Torrey. This artist has had much success with his presentments of society people in New York and Philadelphia.

Mary MacLane of Butte, Mont., is a young woman of nineteen or twenty years, whose book about herself out-Bashkirtseff's Marie Bashkirtseff, was born in Canada of Scotch parents, spent her childhood partly in Minnesota and received her education in the Butte high school. She thinks that she is the greatest genius that ever lived.

Might Have Been Worse.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "that horse you bet on!"

"There's no need of bringing the matter up. I know that my judgment was very bad and all that."

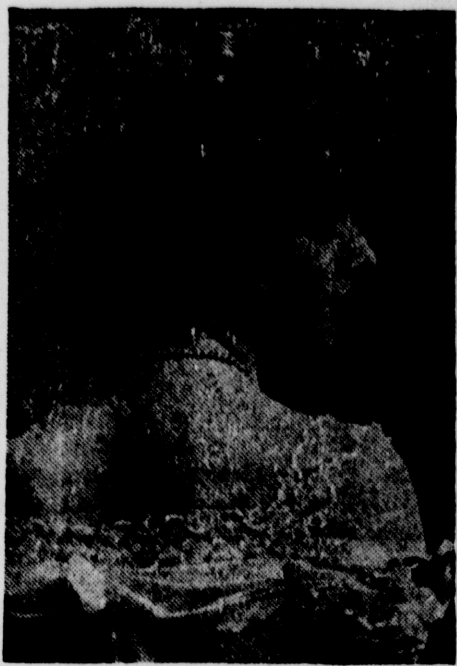

"Oh, I wouldn't take it to heart! The horse might have been beaten worse. You must give him credit for getting around ahead of the horses that were entered for the following race."—Washington Star.

ACTRESS MAY BE DUCHESS

English Singer Becomes Bride of Duke of Devonshire's Heir.

Miss Isabel Jay, the charming English songstress, has a good chance of some day becoming a duchess. She has just become the bride of Mr. Harry Sheppard Hart Cavendish, nephew of the Duke of Devonshire, who is old and childless.

Mrs. Cavendish has been on the stage three years. She has been one of the most popular singers at the Savoy theater, London, and has several times won favors from royalty. She has just closed a successful engagement as Phyllis in "Iolanthe."

Mr. Harry Cavendish, who is but twenty-six, has already won a reputation as an explorer and hunter of big game. He has made several expeditions to Africa and has visited America in search of big game. Mr. Cavendish at one time showed marked attention to Edna May, the American actress.

One night the young explorer sat in a proscenium box and blissfully gazed at his inamorata while the fair Edna played to that box with all her power. Presently a huge bunch of gorgeous roses, American Beauties, were dropped on the stage at her feet. They came from the hands of Mr. Cavendish.

That was probably the most expensive bunch of roses that was ever presented to any one on the stage, for, not counting the roses, which were worth a dollar each, there was a cluster ring cunningly concealed among the blossoms that cost Mr. Cavendish not less than $2,500.

But that was a mere bagatelle compared with other gifts bestowed upon Miss May by Mr. Cavendish.

STATE OFFICIALS GO TO CLEVELAND

Everything in Readiness For the Republican State Convention Tomorrow.

ONLY TWO CONTESTS ON

These Are for Supreme Judge And for Dairy And Food Commissioner—Impossible to Pick the Winners—Personal Notes From the Capital.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, May 26.—The state officials leave today to attend the Republican state convention which opens in Cleveland tomorrow. Governor Nash went to Cleveland this morning. He will open headquarters at the Hollenden. He will preside as temporary chairman. The only contests will be those over the nominations for dairy and food commissioner and judge of the supreme court. Both are so mixed that it is impossible to tell at this moment who the winners will be.

Judge Crew, of Morgan county, seems to be a prominent candidate in the judgeship fight, but the field is against him, which may mean his defeat. He made a hard fight for the nomination a year ago, and only lost by a narrow margin. The Eighteenth district will be interested most in the candidacy of Hon. M. A. Norris, of Youngstown, who may prove to be quite a factor in the judgeship fight. There are no other candidates from the district.

The candidates for dairy and food commissioner are Fred Herbst and Linas B. Kauffman, of Columbus, and Representative Ankeny, of Greene county. All three seem to be pretty well matched. Ankeny has been pledged the support of a number of his colleagues.

Governor Nash was selected as one of the delegates from this county to the state convention on Saturday. His opponents tried hard to defeat him and came near doing it, as he only won by a few votes.

Mrs. Wylie King, of this city, formerly of East Liverpool, was stricken with severe illness one day last week and for a time her life was despaired of. She suffered a serious surgical operation and has since almost entirely recovered. John Wallace, an East Liverpool law student at the Ohio State university, is convalescent after an attack of fever.

Mr. Wallace and Mr. Harris, of Salem, who is also a student at the Ohio State university, will take the state bar examination, which begins June 3.

The United Commercial Travelers of Ohio closed their annual meeting in this city with a big parade Saturday afternoon. They will meet in Cincinnati in 1903. Zanesville and Canton made bids for the honor in order to put themselves in line for another time. Zanesville expects to get the convention in 1904 and Canton in 1905.

WAR ON SALOONS

VIGOROUSLY DECLARED BY ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE ORATORS.

A Number of Them Preached on the Coming Crusade in This City
And Wellsville.

In several of the churches of this city and Wellsville the Ohio Anti-Saloon forces held sway Sunday, both morning and evening. There were four of the state officers present and each delivered two lectures, advocating the principal of the league and giving a full explanation of what the recent passage of the Beall bill at Columbus has already done and what it will do for the league.

Rev. Perley A. Baker, superintendent of the league, in his address before the congregation at the United Presbyterian church, made some very emphatic and bold statements in regard to the ultimate prosperity of the league.

"Through the efforts of the league," said he, "the people of a municipality can have the saloon abolished by a majority of votes being cast against it. Our next step will be to have a ward and county local option bill passed, and the step following that will be the last one—a constitutional amendment that will prohibit absolutely the sale of intoxicating beverages. In the state of Ohio there are 700 incorporated towns. At least 200 of them will take advantage of the Beall bill, and at the present time there are 700 townships that have no saloons."

its organization, and in an extremely logical manner forecasted the future. At Wellsville today Rev. Mr. Baker met the ministerial association of both cities and talked over the advisability of having a vote cast by the residents of both cities in the near future on the saloon abolishing question under the Beall law. It will be necessary for 40 per cent of the voters to sign a petition asking that a vote be taken before one can be instituted, and it is considered very doubtful whether the number can be secured.

MOTHER-IN-LAW BLAMED

FOR BREAKING UP JOHN
BROOK'S HAPPY HOME.

His Youthful Wife at Last Became a Common Scold And Drove Him Away.

Lisbon, May 26.—(Special)—John Brook, who was recently made defendant in a divorce and alimony suit has filed his side of the story in court, in the nature of an answer and cross petition. He married Verna Robinson in Salsbury, this county, four years ago when she was less than 16 years of age. They came to this city and lived here six months and during this time he says that his wife's mother, who was a divorced woman, constantly endeavored to make trouble between them.

Brook was not making a large salary, but he was compelled to hire a livery team every Saturday at a cost of $6 and take her to her mother's home to spend Sunday and finally to throw up his position and move there. Then he was forced to walk two miles to work in Irondale every morning until he grew tired of it and moved to Cleveland and secured work. He says they lived there a short time when he was again compelled to move back to Salsbury. When he finally remonstrated with her she struck him over the head with a pair of shears. He also says that she was a constant scold and made his life miserable until he was finally compelled to leave her just one year after their marriage.

Mrs. Brook accuses him of having disowned her child, but Brook says that she frequently told him that it was not his. Brook wants a divorce and asks the court to give the child to him.

Wintering in Colorado And Utah.

The climate of Colorado and Utah has long been world famous, but it is only within recent years that attention has been given to the delightful winter climate of these states. Today physicians all over the United States send their patients to Colorado and Utah to escape the rigors of eastern winters and to benefit by her invigorating atmosphere and health-giving sunshine.

It is not necessary to add an elaborate argument—the conclusion is self-evident and inevitable. The winter climate of Colorado and Utah on the whole presents advantages for the invalid and the pleasure-seeker that cannot fail to command attention.

An erroneous impression prevails that because the Rocky mountains have a high elevation the mercury in the thermometer drops down below zero in the winter season and stops there, and that the snow mounts up with the altitude. The fact is that the average precipitation of moisture in the lowlands of the mountain region during the entire year is only 14.15 inches. With such average precipitation there is practically no danger of snow blockades on the railroads, save at a few points exposed to drifts and these points have been amply protected. This is especially true of the lines of the Denver & Rio Grande and the Rio Grande Western between Denver and Ogden at all seasons of the year. Facts speak for themselves, and the fact is that travel over "The Scenic Line of the World" has gone on with less interruption from snow blockades during the last ten winters than it has upon the majority of railroads in other localities which are popularly supposed to be more free from such delays than the mountain systems. WALLER CONDEMNED

Reviewing Authority Dis-
proves of Findings of Court Martial.

RETALIATION, NOT ACT OF WAR,

Was His Action in Sending Natives
to Their Death—Could Have Tele-
phoned Gen. Smith Before Giving
Order—Day Should Have Disobeyed

Manila, May 26.—The official findings of the court martial which tried Major L. W. T. Waller and Lieutenant John H. A. Day, of the marine corps, for executing natives of the island of Samar without trial, have been made public. The reviewing authority of the court has expressed its disapproval of the court's findings in both cases.

Referring to the case of Major Waller, the reviewing authority says:

More of Unlawful Retaliation.
"The sending of the natives in question to their death partook more of unlawful retaliation than a justifiable act of war. In justice to the American military service, the findings of acquittal demand that they shall not meet with unqualified approval. The marines in Samar underwent great suffering before their rescue, and their officers, from their sick beds, voiced the revengeful anger of the men who telephoned to Major Waller advising that the stevedores be killed. Major Waller received this message while he was sick, prostrate from a fever, suffering acute pain of body due to exposure in behalf of his men and mental anguish concerning their fate, which had long been in doubt. Major Waller was at the time in telephonic communication with General Smith, who commanded the African forces in Samar, but he deliberately chose not to consult General Smith regarding his contemplated action, and, rather than forego the execution of his unrestrained will, he assumed the power of the laws of war and the customs of the service confer upon commanding officers only in time of war.

"Giving heed to the mental attitude of Major Waller, as much of the findings of the court as are to the effect that Major Waller is not guilty of murder are approved. But the reviewing authority is at a loss to understand why the court did not find against Major Waller in the minor offense. With the exception noted the acquittal, as it appears in the record of the proceedings, is disapproved."

Referring to the case of Lieutenant Day, the reviewing authority says:

Day Should Have Disobeyed.
"The accused knew that for three weeks Major Waller had undergone a test of his mental and physical endurance such as few men are called upon to suffer. While fully conceding the grave responsibility assumed by a subordinate officer in wilfully disobeying an order of his commanding officer, still the weighty reasons related, with which Lieutenant Day was acquainted, so tainted Major Waller's order that Lieutenant Day should have been prompted to positive disobedience. An officer must be conscientiously regardless of the unquestioned legality of his agency in taking lives of his fellow men. Above and beyond all personal considerations officers must guard the name and honor of the country. Had Lieutenant Day been actuated by such considerations he would probably have prevented one of the most regrettable incidents in the annals of the military service of the United States."

LOUBET VISITED COPENHAGEN.

Shown Honors by Danish King and Royal Family.

Copenhagen, May 26.—President Loubet, who, after his visit to the czar of Russia, left Cronstadt, May 25, for France on the French cruiser Montcalm, landed here yesterday after a favorable and rapid voyage through the Baltic. He was met on the French torpedo destroyer Cassini to which he had been transferred, by King Christian, the Danish crown prince and other members of the royal family.

At the Amalienborg Castle luncheon was served to the royal family and the French visitors. Complimentary toasts were exchanged between the king and the president. Later King Christian and M. Loubet together drove about Copenhagen and then returned to the harbor. The French party sailed later.

Vienna Arrests Inquiry Secret.

Naples, May 26.—The court of inquiry being held on board the United States cruiser Chicago to investigate the arrests of certain officers of that cruiser at Venice, April 25, continued its sessions, but the strictest secrecy regarding the proceedings of the court was maintained. Orders have been received on the Chicago from Washington that the findings of the court shall not be divulged until they are passed upon by the United States government.

Many Deaths From Cholera.

Manila, May 26.—The cholera record to date is as follows: Manila, 1,146 cases and 619 deaths; the province, 8,223 cases and 2,774 deaths.

FARMERS TO FIGHT THE TRUST.

Co-Operative Company Buys Elevators to Fight Flour Combine.
Will Ship to England.

Kansas City, Mo., May 26.—Walter Vrooman, of the Western Co-operative movement, has closed contracts for the purchase of six of the largest wheat elevators in the Kansas wheat belt and two of the largest flouring mills. The price paid is said to have been $750,000, and Mr. Vrooman, who has left for New York to complete the financial end of the plan, says the present purchase is but the beginning of a movement to center the farmers of Kansas in a co-operative branch of the Vrooman co-operative company. The concern will be known as the Wheat and Flour Western Co-operative company. The farmers are to be taken into the scheme upon the payment of $100 each, for which they are to receive the market value of their wheat sold to the company, and, in addition, will receive one-half of the profit derived, the other half going to co-operative stores through which the wheat and flour will be handled. "The plan," said Mr. Vrooman, "is to eliminate wheat speculators and the middlemen. The farmers are in earnest sympathy with the movement. It is the only way to head off the talked-of flour trust that is forming in New York."

It is intended to ship to Great Britain, to be sold among the co-operative members there, the surplus product not disposed of in Kansas and Missouri.

EDUCATORS.

Professor C. H. Eigenmann of Indiana university returned recently from China, where he went to collect specimens of fish for classroom work and the museum. In his collection are 158 specimens of blind fishes. ORDINANCE NO. 718.
An Ordinance to Amend Section 323
of the Revised Ordinances of the
City of East Liverpool, Ohio:

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the council of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, that Section 323 of the Revised Ordinances of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, be amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 323. All curbing shall be of stone of a thickness not less than six inches from end to end at surface, permanently set in the earth not less than eighteen inches and so as not to be removed by caving, and showing at least six inches above the surface on the side next the street. All sidewalks shall correspond with the grade adopted by council and shall incline or slope towards the curb stone or outer side, not exceeding three-fourths or less than one-half inch to the foot. All sidewalks shall be of hard burned paving brick, flag stone or other equally as good material, and no pavement shall be laid until the bed, upon which said pavement is to be laid, shall be approved and satisfactory to the street commissioner and city engineer. On streets fifty feet or over, said pavement may be laid so as to leave a space between the curb and outer line of pavement for grass, trees or other ornament; said pavement shall be laid with a foundation of five inches of gravel or boiler ashes and two inches of sand, subject to the approval of the street commissioner or city engineer."

Section 2. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances conflicting with this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed this 15th day of May 1902.

VIGOROUSLY DECLARED BY ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE ORATORS.

Coming Crusade in This City
And Wellsville.

In several of the churches of this city and Wellsville the Ohio Anti-Saloon forces held sway Sunday, both morning and evening. There were four of the state officers present and each delivered two lectures, advocating the principal of the league and giving a full explanation of what the recent passage of the Beall bill at Columbus has already done and what it will do for the league.

Rev. Perley A. Baker, superintendent of the league, in his address before the congregation at the United Presbyterian church, made some very emphatic and bold statements in regard to the ultimate prosperity of the league.

"Through the efforts of the league," said he, "the people of a municipality can have the saloon abolished by a majority of votes being cast against it. Our next step will be to have a ward and county local option bill passed, and the step following that will be the last one—a constitutional amendment that will prohibit absolutely the sale of intoxicating beverages. In the state of Ohio there are 700 incorporated towns. At least 200 of them will take advantage of the Beall bill, and at the present time there are 700 townships that have no saloons."

The speaker then cited the disapvantage and discouragements that had fallen in the way of the league since its organization, and in an extremely logical manner forecasted the future.

At Wellsville today Rev. Mr. Baker met the ministerial association of both cities and talked over the advisability of having a vote cast by the residents of both cities in the near future on the saloon abolishing question under the Beall law. It will be necessary for 40 per cent of the voters to sign a petition asking that a vote be taken before one can be instituted, and it is considered very doubtful whether the number can be secured.

FOR BREAKING UP JOHN
BROOK'S HAPPY HOME.

His Youthful Wife at Last Became a Common Scold And Drove Him Away.

Lisbon, May 26.—(Special)— John Brook, who was recently made defendant in a divorce and alimony suit has filed his side of the story in court, in the nature of an answer and cross petition. He married Verna Robinson in Salisbury, this county, four years ago when she was less than 16 years of age. They came to this city and lived here six months and during this time he says that his wife's mother, who was a divorced woman, constantly endeavored to make trouble between them.

Brook was not making a large salary, but he was compelled to hire a livery team every Saturday at a cost of $6 and take her to her mother's home to spend Sunday and finally to throw up his position and move there.
Then he was forced to walk two miles to work in Irondale every morning until he grew tired of it and moved to Cleveland and secured work. He says they lived there a short time when he was again compelled to move back to Salisbury. When he finally remonstrated with her she struck him over the head with a pair of shears. He also says that she was a constant scold and made his life miserable until he was finally compelled to leave her just one year after their marriage.

Mrs. Brook accuses him of having dissuaded her child, but Brook says that she frequently told him that it was not his. Brook wants a divorce and asks the court to give the child to him.

Wintering in Colorado And Utah.

The climate of Colorado and Utah has long been world famous, but it is only within recent years that attention has been given to the delightful winter climate of these states. Today physicians all over the United States send their patients to Colorado and Utah to escape the rigors of eastern winters and to benefit by her invigorating atmosphere and health-giving sunshine.

It is not necessary to add an elaborate argument—the conclusion is self-evident and inevitable. The winter climate of Colorado and Utah on the whole presents advantages for the invalid and the pleasure-seeker that cannot fail to command attention.

An erroneous impression prevails that because the Rocky mountains have a high elevation the mercury in the thermometer drops down below zero in the winter season and stops there, and that the snow mounts up with the altitude. The fact is that the average precipitation of moisture in the lowlands of the mountain region during the entire year is only 14.15 inches. With such average precipitation there is practically no danger of snow blockades on the railroads, save at a few points exposed to drifts and these points have been amply protected. This is especially true of the lines of the Denver & Rio Grande and the Rio Grande Western between Denver and Ogden at all seasons of the year. Facts speak for themselves, and the fact is that travel over "The Scenic Line of the World" has gone on with less interruption from snow blockades during the last ten winters than it has upon the majority of railroads in other localities which are popularly supposed to be more free from such delays than the mountain systems. For free illustrated booklet

WALLER CONDEMNED

Reviewing Authority Disapproves of Findings of Court Martial.

RETALIATION, NOT ACT OF WAR,

Was His Action In Sending Natives
to Their Death—Could Have Tele-
phoned Gen. Smith Before Giving
Order—Day Should Have Disobeyed

Manila, May 26.—The official findings of the court martial which tried Major L. W. T. Waller and Lieutenant John H. A. Day, of the marine corps, for executing natives of the island of Samar without trial, have been made public. The reviewing authority of the court has expressed its disapproval of the court's findings in both cases.

Referring to the case of Major Waller, the reviewing authority says:
More of Unlawful Retaliation.

"The sending of the natives in question to their death partook more of unlawful retaliation than a justifiable act of war. In justice to the American military service, the findings of acquittal demand that they shall not meet with unqualified approval. The marines in Samar underwent great suffering before their rescue, and their officers, from their sick beds, voiced the revengeful anger of the men who telephoned to Major Waller advising that the steve-dores be killed. Major Waller received this message while he was sick, prostrate from a fever, suffering acute pain of body due to exposure in behalf of his men and mental anguish concerning their fate, which had long been in doubt. Major Waller was at the time in telephonic communication with General Smith, who commanded the African forces in Samar, but he deliberately chose not to consult General Smith regarding his contemplated action, and, rather than forego the execution of his unrestrained will, he assumed the power the laws of war and the customs of the service confer upon commanding officers only in time of war.

"Giving heed to the mental attitude of Major Waller, as much of the findings of the court as are to the effect that Major Waller is not guilty of murder are approved. But the reviewing authority is at a loss to not understand why the court did not find against Major Waller in the minor offense. With the exception noted the acquittal, as it appears in the record of the proceedings, is disapproved."

Referring to the case of Lieutenant
Day, the reviewing authority says:
Day Should Have Disobeyed.

"The accused knew that for three weeks Major Waller had undergone a test of his mental and physical endurance such as few men are called upon to suffer. While fully conceding the grave responsibility assumed by a subordinate officer in wilfully disobeying an order of his commanding officer, still the weighty reasons related, with which Lieutenant Day was acquainted, so tainted Major Waller's order that Lieutenant Day should have been prompted to positive disobedience. An officer must be conscientiously regardful of the unquestioned legality of his agency in taking lives of his fellow men. Above and beyond all personal considerations officers must guard the name and honor of the country. Had Lieutenant Day been actuated by such considerations he would probably have prevented one of the most regrettable incidents in the annals of the military service of the United States."

LOUBET VISITED COPENHAGEN.

Shown Honors by Danish King and Royal Family.

Copenhagen, May 26.—President Loubet, who, after his visit to the czar of Russia, left Cronstadt, May 25, for France on the French cruiser Montcalm, landed here yesterday after a favorable and rapid voyage through the Baltic. He was met on the French torpedo destroyer Cassini to which he had been transferred, by King Christian, the Danish crown prince and other members of the royal family.

At the Amalienborg Castle luncheon was served to the royal family and the French visitors. Complimentary toasts were exchanged between the king and the president. Later King Christian and M. Loubet together drove about Copenhagen and then returned to the harbor. The French party sailed later.

Vienna Arrests Inquiry Secret.

Naples, May 26.—The court of inquiry being held on board the United States cruiser Chicago to investigate the arrests of certain officers of that
its sessions, but the strictest secrecy regarding the proceedings of the court was maintained. Orders have been received on the Chicago from Washington that the findings of the court shall not be divulged until they are passed upon by the United States government.

Many Deaths From Cholera.

Manila, May 26.—The cholera record to date is as follows: Manila, inces, 8,922 cases and 2,774 deaths.

FARMERS TO FIGHT THE TRUST.

Co-Operative Company Buys Eleva-
tors to Fight Flour Combine.
Will Ship to England.

Kansas City, Mo., May 26.—Walter Vrooman, of the Western Co-operative movement, has closed contracts for the purchase of six of the largest wheat elevators in the Kansas wheat belt and two of the largest flouring mills. The price paid is said to have been $750,000, and Mr. Vrooman, who has left for New York to complete the financial end of the plan, says the present purchase is but the beginning of a movement to center the farmers of Kansas in a co-operative branch of the Vrooman co-operative company.
The concern will be known as the Wheat and Flour Western Co-Operative company. The farmers are to be taken into the scheme upon the payment of $100 each, for which they are to receive the market value of their wheat sold to the company, and, in addition, will receive one-half of the profit derived, the other half going to co-operative stores through which the wheat and flour will be handled.
"The plan," said Mr. Vrooman, "is to eliminate wheat speculators and the middlemen. The farmers are in earnest sympathy with the movement. It is the only way to head off the talked of flour trust that is forming in New York."

It is intended to ship to Great Britain, to be sold among the co-operative members there, the surplus product not disposed of in Kansas and Missouri.

ORDINANCE NO. 718.
An Ordinance to Amend Section 323
of the Revised Ordinances of the
City of East Liverpool, Ohio:

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the council of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, that Section 323 of the Revised Ordinances of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, be amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 323. All curbing shall be of stone of a thickness not less than six inches from end to end at surface, permanently set in the earth not less than eighteen inches and so as not to be removed by caving, and showing at least six inches above the surface on the side next the street. All sidewalks shall correspond with the grade adopted by council and shall incline or slope towards the curb stone or outer side, not exceeding three-fourths or less than one-half inch to the foot. All sidewalks shall be of hard burned paving brick, flag stone or other equally as good material, and no pavement shall be laid until the bed, upon which said pavement is to be laid, shall be approved and satisfactory to the street commissioner and city engineer. On streets fifty feet or over, said pavement may be laid so as to leave a space between the curb and outer line of pavement for grass, trees or other ornament; said pavement shall be laid with a foundation of five inches of gravel or boiler ashes and two inches of sand, subject to the approval of the street commissioner or city engineer."

Section 2. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances conflicting with this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

DELAY CUBAN BILL

By Postponing Vote on Canal Measure Hope of Beet Sugar Men.

COUNT ON HELP OF MINORITY.

If It Can Be Held Off Until After Disposal of Appropriation Bills There May Be No Cuban Legislation This Session.

Washington, May 26.—The members of the French mission which came to Washington to attend the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the Rochambeau statue finished their visit here yesterday, and last night left the city for Niagara Falls on their week's tour of the east before sailing for home. There were no formal functions on the program for the day, but the visitors found every minute of their time occupied in attending divine services, returning numerous calls, official and otherwise, and in drives about the city and suburbs.

Heard Cardinal Gibbons Preach. Ambassador Cambon accompanied the members of the mission to St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock in the morning, where low mass was said by the Rev. Dr. Mangin, of Baltimore, the Right Rev. Monsignor Rooker, of the Apostolic delegation, and other priests assisting. The visitors wore the full uniform of their rank. Cardinal Gibbons preached a short sermon. In part, he spoke of the French missionaries who had crossed the seas to America, and preached the gospel to the aboriginal inhabitants, carrying the torch of faith in one hand, and the torch of civilization in the other. It was meet and proper that the sons of France should assemble in the temple of God to give thanks to the Almighty for the great things which had been accomplished by their countrymen in this hemisphere, in the cause of religion and civilization.

Several of the party, including the Count and Countess de Rochambeau and the Count de Lafayette, visited the beautiful Arlington cemetery Sunday afternoon, and Fort Myer, nearby.

Got Wet Riding With the President.

A quite unexpected feature of the afternoon, and one which pleased the visitors very much, was an invitation from President Roosevelt to accompany him and several others on a horseback ride. The entire party assembled in front of the White House about 4 o'clock, the visitors in their uniforms making a very pretty picture in the bright afternoon sunlight. A photograph was taken of the group while there. The president guided the party through the northern section of the city until they reached the Zoological park. While in the park a storm began to gather and the party came home at a lively canter. The rain overtook them, however, and before reaching their stopping place the entire party was drenched. Those on horseback were President Roosevelt, his son Theodore and daughter Alice, Secretary Root and Senator Lodge and the following members of the Rochambeau mission: General Brugere, Vice Admiral Fournier, General Chalender and Captain Lasson.

The party left Washington at half-past 7 o'clock last night for Niagara Falls, via the Pennsylvania railroad. Those going included all the members of the mission, Ambassador and Madam Cambon and the members of the staff of the French embassy and the president's commission.

2,000,000 HAVE BEEN HEALED

Washington, May 26.—Mr. Carol Norton, in a lecture delivered before a large audience in the Columbia theater Sunday, asserted that 2,000,000 cases of disease have been healed in Christian Science during the 35 years of its history, and in that time about 700 Christian Science churches have been established and are now flourishing.

He said that Christian Science was not faith cure, mind cure nor mesmerism, but that it heals the sick only through a scientific understanding of

A Playwright's Idea Of the Christ

By AUGUSTUS THOMAS, Playwright

IN my mind's eye I am forever producing a drama in which the Man of Nazareth shall be the central figure. My Christ would not be the Christ of the painter. I would produce a man such as he must have been, strong and noble and merciful. He would be divine without effacing the traits of humanity and human without forgetting that he is divine. AS I SEE HIM NOW, HE MUST HAVE HAD A HIGH FOREHEAD. ABRAHAM LINCOLN HAD SUCH A BROW. It shows him to be the philanthropist that he was, the man of broad wisdom and humanity and benevolence. His nose would be perfectly straight and would lack the aggressiveness of the Semitic race. His eye is full and round and clear and mild.

He had a strong upper lip, such a one as will allow a man to suffer and wander in the wilderness and fast for forty days—just such an upper lip as Edwin Booth had. But under it I would have a full, sympathetic lower lip that would flavor with sweetness the words of wisdom that the tongue would speak. His jaw would be strong and firm. Its shape might even suggest a fleeting thought of resistance to the Roman sway. His head would be long, for if it were flat like those of the Jews he would be a nomad. But this he was not, for he loved his home and returned to its hearthside whenever he could.

He would be tall and well built and strong. His chest is deep, and when he drives the plane along the carpenter's bench he does it in an easy, graceful manner; or if he drags the heavy nets of fish from the water it is child's play. His clothes would be the most common. In winter I would give him the rough, heavy camel's hair mantle that would not show the marks of the dogs and the babies on the street as they climb up in his arms.

When I have formed my Christ, I would give him a task, the one he has already accomplished.

HE WOULD SCATTER ABROAD THE THOUGHT THAT ALL ARE EQUAL TILL, FINALLY MADDENED WITH THE IDEA, PEOPLE WOULD FLEE INTO THE WILDERNESS TO REALIZE IT. THEN, REALIZING ITS REALITY, THEY WOULD ASSERT THEMSELVES AND HURL KINGS AND EMPERORS FROM THEIR THRONES.

Finally the idea of democracy would take the whole world for its stage and, sweeping triumphantly along, would control the mechanism of our every activity.

man's relation to God. In his contention for right thinking and proper models of thought he declared that it should be made criminal to publish the details of crime or of contagious diseases because of the effect of such publication on health and morals.

ABOUT EIGHTY WERE MISSING.

Vancouver, B. C., May 26.—Colonel Pryor last night received two dispatches from Fernie. In one A. Dick, inspector of the mines, says: "All bodies in No. 3 mine and high lying positions of No. 2 (49) recovered. Air turned into west division near where other bodies are."

Mr. Armstrong, the government agent, says: "Forty bodies recovered; about 80 still missing; 24 escaped alive. No fire in mine. Jury impaneled last night and adjourned for a week. Everything possible being done."

KILLED BY BURGLARS.

Wife's Version of the Death of Her Wealthy Husband.

Chicago, May 26.—Daniel Hill, a wealthy real estate owner, of Morris, Ill., and partner in the firm of the George H. Phillips company, on the Chicago board of trade, was shot and seriously wounded early Sunday, as he lay in bed at his residence, 757 Monroe street. Six shots were fired, three taking effect, one behind the left ear, one entering his nose and the other shattering his right arm. Considerable mystery surrounds the shooting.

According to Mrs. Hill, she and her husband were asleep, when Mr. Hill was awakened by the forcing of a lock on the bedroom door. He reached for a revolver, but before he could use it three men rushed into the room and fired at him. The first shot awoke Mrs. Hill and she rushed to the window and shouted for help. The police responded in a few minutes, but in the meantime the supposed burglars had made their escape.

Better Chinese Oppose It.

Pekin, May 26.—The failure of the efforts of a German firm to secure exclusive rights of selling opium throughout the Chinese empire, for which privilege the firm in question offered to pay the Chinese government $15,000,000 a year, appears to be assured on account of the opposition to the proposal of the better class of the ministers and the palace officials.

JUDGES MAY LEAVE JAIL.

Another Probably Can Come In From Brush—Bond Case May Be Settled.

Kansas City, May 26.—The famous St. Clair county bond case, for which several county judges have served jail sentences because of their refusal to order a payment of $200,000 of bonds, issued in 1868, to build a railway across the county, is to be compromised. Representatives of the bondholders, who now have a claim against the county for $1,500,000, including principal and interest for 34 years, and the present judges are to meet at Osceola today to consider a proposition from the bondholders, which, it is stated, will prove acceptable to the county officials and taxpayers. Judge Thomas Nevitt, who has been in jail at Maryville for a year for contempt in refusing to order payment of the bonds, will be taken to the conference by a United States marshal.

Judge Nevitt has wearied of jail life and apparently is willing to give in. S. D. Paden, another of the judges, is serving a sentence in the Warrensburg jail. Deputies have been unable to capture Judge Walker, the last of the trio, who has lived in the brush since he was elected.

Attended St. Patrick's Church—Some Went Horseback Riding With the President.

Washington, May 26.—From indications last night the senate will devote another full week, if not a longer time, to consideration of the Philippine bill. The prediction is freely made that a vote will not be reached before the middle of the following week.

It is not expected that there will be any session of the senate on Friday, as that is Memorial day and a holiday. The practice of the senate in the matter of adjournment on Memorial day has not been uniform and there may be an effort to keep the senate in session, but this effort will be antagonized.

The continued deferment of the time for taking a vote on the Philippine measure has caused considerable abatement in the preparation for discussion of the Nicaragua canal bill and the Cuban reciprocity bill, which will be taken up next in succession or jointly. The beet sugar people predict a month's debate on the Nicaragua bill, but this prediction is not in accord with the views of the advocates of the Nicaragua bill or its opponents in the isthmian canal committee. Both these elements are now claiming a majority and are saying that the sooner the vote is reached the better they will be satisfied. The beet sugar men, however, are counting confidently on the cooperation of the side which finds itself in the minority in the matter of postponing the vote on the canal bill. In other words, the beet sugar advocates welcome the introduction of any question which will defer consideration of the Cuban bill, since they think that there will be no Cuban legislation at all if the taking up of that question can be postponed until after the passage of all the appropriation bills.

The appropriation bills should be passed before the first of July in order to supply money for the support of the government after that date, and they consequently expect that considerable time will be given during the month of June to the appropriation bills remaining undisposed of. They count confidently on the early adjournment of congress after the appropriation bills are out of the way, and they hint that if after that time there is an effort to pass the Cuban bill it will be incumbent on the friends of the bill to maintain a quorum in the senate. "It would be hardly fair," said a beet sugar Republican senator Sunday in discussing the contingency mentioned, "to expect the opponents of the proposed reduction to assist in prolonging a session in midsummer for the purpose of passing a measure which they do not want to see enacted into law."

There is still a considerable Republican element in the senate opposed to the tariff reduction, and it is asserted by the beet sugar men that the 45 Republicans necessary to pass the bill have not yet been secured. It is declared, however, that a practically unanimous vote should be secured for a rebate measure. The Rochambeau monument was unveiled Saturday.

DELAY CUBAN BILL

By Postponing Vote on Canal Measure Hope of Beet Sugar Men.

COUNT ON HELP OF MINORITY.

If It Can Be Held Off Until After Disposal of Appropriation Bills There May Be No Cuban Legislation This Session.

Washington, May 26.—The members of the French mission which came to Washington to attend the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the Rochambeau statue finished their visit here yesterday, and last night left the city for Niagara Falls on their week's tour of the east before sailing for home. There were no formal functions on the program for the day, but the visitors found every minute of their time occupied in attending divine services, returning numerous calls, official and otherwise, and in drives about the city and suburbs.

Heard Cardinal Gibbons Preach.
Ambassador Cambon accompanied the members of the mission to St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock in the morning, where low mass was said by the Rev. Dr. Mangien, of Baltimore, the Right Rev. Monsignor Rooker, of the Apostolic delegation, and other priests assisting. The visitors wore the full uniform of their rank. Cardinal Gibbons preached a short sermon. In part, he spoke of the French missionaries who had crossed the seas to America, and preached the gospel to the aboriginal inhabitants, carrying the torch of faith in one hand, and the torch of civilization in the other. It was met and proper that the sons of France should assemble in the temple of God to give thanks to the Almighty for the great things which had been accomplished by their countrymen in this hemisphere, in the cause of religion and civilization.

Several of the party, including the Count and Countess de Rochambeau and the Count de Lafayette, visited the beautiful Arlington cemetery Sunday afternoon, and Fort Myer, nearby.

Got Wet Riding With the President.

A quite unexpected feature of the afternoon, and one which pleased the visitors very much, was an invitation from President Roosevelt to accompany him and several others on a horseback ride. The entire party assembled in front of the White House about 4 o'clock, the visitors in their uniforms making a very pretty picture in the bright afternoon sunlight. A photograph was taken of the group while there. The president guided the party through the northern section of the city until they reached the Zoological park. While in the park a storm began to gather and the party came home at a lively canter. The rain overtook them, however, and before reaching their stopping place the entire party was drenched. Those on horseback were President Roosevelt, his son Theodore and daughter Alice, Secretary Root and Senator Lodge and the following members of the Rochambeau mission: General Brugere, Vice Admiral Fournier, General Chalendar and Captain Lasso.

The party left Washington at half-past 7 o'clock last night for Niagara Falls, via the Pennsylvania railroad. Those going included all the members of the mission, Ambassador and Madam Cambon and the members of the staff of the French embassy and the president's commission.

Washington, May 26.—Mr. Carol Norton, in a lecture delivered before a large audience in the Columbia theater Sunday, asserted that 2,000,000 cases of disease have been healed in Christian Science during the 35 years of its history, and in that time about 700 Christian Science churches have been established and are now flourishing.

He said that Christian Science was not faith cure, mind cure nor mesmerism, but that it heals the sick only through a scientific understanding of

A Playwright's Idea Of the Christ

By AUGUSTUS THOMAS, Playwright

In my mind's eye I am forever producing a drama in which the Man of Nazareth shall be the central figure. My Christ would not be the Christ of the painter. I would produce a man such as he must have been, strong and noble and merciful. He would be divine without effacing the traits of humanity and human without forgetting that he is divine. AS I SEE HIM NOW, HE MUST HAVE HAD A HIGH FOREHEAD. ABRAHAM LINCOLN HAD SUCH A BROW. It shows him to be the philanthropist that he was, the man of broad wisdom and humanity and benevolence. His nose would be perfectly straight and would lack the aggressiveness of the Semitic race. His eye is full and round and clear and mild.

He had a strong upper lip, such a one as will allow a man to suffer and wander in the wilderness and fast for forty days—just such an upper lip as Edwin Booth had. But under it I would have a full, sympathetic lower lip that would flavor with sweetness the words of wisdom that the tongue would speak. His jaw would be strong and firm. Its shape might even suggest a fleeting thought of resistance to the Roman sway. His head would be long, for if it were flat like those of the Jews he would be a nomad. But this he was not, for he loved his home and returned to its hearthside whenever he could.

He would be tall and well built and strong. His chest is deep, and when he drives the plane along the carpenter's bench he does it in an easy, graceful manner; or if he drags the heavy nets of fish from the water it is child's play. His clothes would be the most common. In winter I would give him the rough, heavy camel's hair mantle that would not show the marks of the dogs and the babies on the street as they climb up in his arms.

When I have formed my Christ, I would give him a task, the one he has already accomplished.

HE WOULD SCATTER ABROAD THE THOUGHT THAT ALL ARE EQUAL TILL, FINALLY MADDENED WITH THE IDEA, PEOPLE WOULD FLEE INTO THE WILDERNESS TO REALIZE IT. THEN, REALIZING ITS REALITY, THEY WOULD ASSERT THEMSELVES AND HURL KINGS AND EMPERORS FROM THEIR THRONES.

Finally the idea of democracy would take the whole world for its stage and, sweeping triumphantly along, would control the mechanism of our every activity.

man's relation to God. In his contention for right thinking and proper models of thought he declared that it should be made criminal to publish the details of crime or of contagious diseases because of the effect of such publication on health and morals.

Vancouver, B. C., May 26.—Colonel Pryor last night received two dispatches from Fernie. In one A. Dick, inspector of the mines, says:

"All bodies in No. 3 mine and high lying positions of No. 2 (49) recovered. Air turned into west division near where other bodies are."

Mr. Armstrong, the government agent, says:

"Forty bodies recovered; about 80 still missing; 24 escaped alive. No fire in mine. Jury impaneled last night and adjourned for a week. Everything possible being done."

KILLED BY BURGLARS.

Wife's Version of the Death of Her Wealthy Husband.

Chicago, May 26.—Daniel Hill, a wealthy real estate owner, of Morris, Ill., and partner in the firm of the George H. Phillips company, on the Chicago board of trade, was shot and seriously wounded early Sunday, as he lay in bed at his residence, 757 Monroe street. Six shots were fired, three taking effect, one behind the left ear, one entering his nose and the other shattering his right arm. Considerable mystery surrounds the shooting.

According to Mrs. Hill, she and her husband were asleep, when Mr. Hill was awakened by the forcing of a lock on the bedroom door. He reached for a revolver, but before he could use it three men rushed into the room and fired at him. The first shot awoke Mrs. Hill and she rushed to the window and shouted for help. The police responded in a few minutes, but in the meantime the supposed burglars had made their escape.

Better Chinese Oppose It.

Pekin, May 26.—The failure of the efforts of a German firm to secure exclusive rights of selling opium throughout the Chinese empire, for which privilege the firm in question offered to pay the Chinese government $15,000,000 a year, appears to be assured on account of the opposition to the proposal of the better class of the ministers and the palace officials.

Another Probably Can Come In From Brush—Bond Case May Be Settled.

Kansas City, May 26.—The famous St. Clair county bond case, for which several county judges have served jail sentences because of their refusal to order a payment of $200,000 of bonds, issued in 1868, to build a railway across the county, is to be compromised. Representatives of the bondholders, who now have a claim against the county for $1,500,000, including principal and interest for 34 years, and the present judges are to meet at Osceola today to consider a proposition from the bondholders, which, it is stated, will prove acceptable to the county officials and taxpayers. Judge Thomas Nevitt, who has been in jail at Maryville for a year for contempt in refusing to order payment of the bonds, will be taken to the conference by a United States marshal.

Judge Nevitt has wearied of jail life and apparently is willing to give in. S. D. Paden, another of the judges, is serving a sentence in the Warrensburg jail. Deputies have been unable to capture Judge Walker, the last of the trio, who has lived in the brush since he was elected.

Home Sweet Home!

Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble there's no place like home;
A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there
Which seek through the world is ne'er met with elsewhere.
An exile from home, pleasure dazzles in vain,
Ah, give me my lowly thatched cottage again,
The birds singing sweetly that came to my call,
Give me them and that peace of mind, dearer than all.

HE poet when he wrote these immortal verses touched a note that finds an echo in every Anglo-Saxon breast. How we love the sentiment expressed! Perhaps your home has been so varied by many movings that these lines don't find their responsive chord?

Is it wise to live in a house that is not your own, putting up with all the inconveniences of a tenant house, the ups and downs with the landlord and a thousand vexations that arise when almost by the reaching out of your hand a home comes within your reach? Through us is offered to you your choice of more than in the city, at all prices, in all locations and at all kinds of terms of purchase. Whether you have much money or little, we would like to have you see what we can do for you toward your owning a home. We are not entirely mercenary in this plea for your consideration. Profit we must have, yet we hope that your profit will be the greater. Hundreds of satisfied purchasers throughout the city will tell you of us. MEMORIAL SERMON FULL OF PATRIOTISM

Rev. J. W. Gorrell's Address to the Patriotic Organizations Yesterday.

THE NATIONAL VICTORIES

And Why We Should Keep Them In Careful Remembrance—Blessed Is the Country Whose Earth Contains the Dust of Heroes.

The memorial sermon preached to the G. A. R., W. R. C. and Sons of Veterans, Sunday morning, in the First Christian church by Rev. J. W. Gorrell, was one of the grandest of its kind ever listened to by the patriotic orders of the city. Every person present expressed himself as being delighted beyond measure, and many are the words of praise that have reached Rev. Mr. Gorrell from his pleased listeners. He said in part:

Fifty thousand memorial sermons preached today upon the same theme—the achievements of the past and the possibilities of the future, and responsibilities in remembrance great national victories is essential to national existence. Memorial days rivet upon our minds those events that are the mile posts in our political advancement and religious culture. By keeping this memorial day set apart by the G. A. R. we accept principles that gave this day birth. By keeping this memorial day we pledge ourselves that these principles written in the blood of the "boys in blue" upon the page of national constitution shall remain a part of our body politic forever. By keeping this day we honor the dead heroes and express gratitude to the living patriots who wrote the brightest page of the world's history.

We attend memorial services to acknowledge our dependence upon God for all spiritual and temporal blessings, to thank Him for the re-establishment of those principles of human liberty so long buried beneath the accumulated evil of centuries.

Blessed is that country whose graves contain the dust of heroes. There is a voice that speaks to us from the graves of our soldier dead, telling of the saving power of self-sacrifice, that noble and vigorous patriotism exalts, and that heroic death is a life giving stream "that flows from Calvary's mountain."

All immortality comes from the graves of our great and heroic dead. From their precious dust comes a wiser and larger liberty. All the world is greater and nobler as a result of what these dead heroes accomplished. Dead heroes? No, they live, and will live forever. They live in the glory of our history, in the world's new life and energy, in our reunited union, and exalted nationalism, our better laws, purer literature.

The war of the rebellion was a war of ideas, a war for their rights, and it marked the dawning of an eternal day of human liberty. The soldiers of the Rebellion have for 40 years been the body guard of our nation. They are object lessons of loyalty, friendship and charity. To teach the rising generation patriotism and devotion to the flag we need not go to Greece or Rome, but look to the examples in our own land.

Soldiers, there is a grand review coming. Your time for drill is passing. Have your moral armour bright so that it will not soil the white gloved finger of the final judge. So live that when life is over you shall go to sleep in hope of eternal life.

haps it is. There is certainly a great deal of what is called religion. The church and the world are so eminently Christian that they use much the same methods of controversy and live with much the same theories. Good and evil are lying flat together, side by side in amicable truce. No voice disturbs the general self-congratulation or questions the common morality. The world is very powerful, and hates to be disturbed in its pleasant vices and comfortable religions. So long, indeed, as prophets dreading its wrath and reverencing its power, obey the mandates to speak to its smooth things and to prophesy deceits, so long as the world is perfectly civil to them. Over both of these the stern fore-runner and the Lord of Love bursts the blinding hurricane of the world's hatred. But in John the Baptist once more, for the last time, a prophet burst on the indignant and astonished age. No smooth, sleek, worldly, well-to-do prophet, but a new Elijah, a new Isaiah; not mincing matters, calling a spade a spade, exposing, denouncing, speaking out, revealing the thoughts of many hearts, showing no cringing fear of the people in high places, calling Priests and Levites a generation of vipers.

The real word of God is precious in these days, when prophets prophesy falsely. But let us ask what is a true prophet? The true function of the prophet was to be the moral reformer of his age, a repairer of the breach, a restorer of "paths to dwell in." Sometimes, nay, often, a church or a nation lies like a ship becalmed on the tropic sea. The air around it is heavy with pestilence and with death.

How can there be in an age in which the chief gospel is to teach our boys and girls mainly how to get rich and how to get on; how every clerk may come to keep his carriage and every apprentice rise to be a senator, as though it were the very consummation of felicity to scrape up money and the supreme end of man to become a millionaire—how can there be no sin in this, if Christ be the main object?

I warn you, young ladies and young men, against the worship of this human, hollow, gilt idol which dwarts into base mammon-worship so many who might otherwise have been, if not heroic, at least not so absolutely ignoble. Instead of this paltry lesson of prudential worldliness dwarfing men's lives to the narrow and impure horizon of the world, let us tell our young people of the great republic that the greater multitude of the very noblest and the very best, they who shine as the brightest stars in the firmament of human worth, they who on the dead levels of our common place have been among the mole-hills as mountains, and among the thistles as forest trees, have not got on in the vulgar sense at all? They have neither ridden in their carriages, nor flourished as the "green bay tree," nor left their substance to their babes, they have been the lowly, they have been hated, they have had to stand alone.

My young people, if to get rich is your ambition. Oh, get rich in heaven's name; if that be the best thing to do, so do it by honorable means and for generous objects; so you don't sell for it so much of soul as is left to you; so you mean to spend what God gives you for the good of others, at least in part, and not for your own selfishness, so you "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness that all other things may be added unto you." But if you want to do one fraction of the work of the prophet, you cannot serve God and Mammon.

What makes a man? Learning? The possession of a diploma? It may help make you a philosopher, scholar, sage, but learning by itself and outside of Christ leaves you undeveloped and frozen at heart. But with the knowledge you possess, if your soul be illuminated with the knowledge of God and of a world to come, from the calm of home and the discipline of school life, you enter upon the nobler and grander if sterner experiences of womanhood and manhood, which, safely passed through, shall bring you to the glory of Heaven. Amen.

MEMORIAL SERMON FULL OF PATRIOTISM

Rev. J. W. Gorrell's Address to the Patriotic Organizations Yesterday.

THE NATIONAL VICTORIES

And Why We Should Keep Them In Careful Remembrance—Blessed is the Country Whose Earth Contains the Dust of Heroes.

The memorial sermon preached to the G. A. R., W. R. C. and Sons of Veterans, Sunday morning, in the First Christian church by Rev. J. W. Gorrell, was one of the grandest of its kind ever listened to by the patriotic orders of the city. Every person present expressed himself as being delighted beyond measure, and many are the words of praise that have reached Rev. Mr. Gorrell from his pleased listeners. He said in part:

Fifty thousand memorial sermons preached today upon the same theme—the achievements of the past and the possibilities of the future; and responsibilities of the present. The keeping in remembrance great national victories is essential to national existence. Memorial days rivet upon our minds those events that are the mile posts in our political advancement and religious culture. By keeping this memorial day set apart by the G. A. R. we accept principles that gave this day birth. By keeping this memorial day we pledge ourselves that those principles written in the blood of the "boys in blue" upon the page of national constitution shall remain a part of our body politic forever. By keeping this day we honor the dead heroes and express gratitude to the living patriots who wrote the brightest page of the world's history.

We attend memorial services to acknowledge our dependence upon God for all spiritual and temporal blessings, to thank Him for the re-establishment of those principles of human liberty so long buried beneath the accumulated evil of centuries.

Blessed is that country whose graves contain the dust of heroes. There is a voice that speaks to us from the graves of our soldier dead, telling of the saving power of self-sacrifice; that noble and vigorous patriotism exalts, and that heroic death is a life giving stream "that flows from Calvary's mountain."

All immortality comes from the graves of our great and heroic dead. From their precious dust comes a wiser and larger liberty. All the world is greater and nobler as a result of what these dead heroes accomplished. Dead heroes? No, they live, and will live forever. They live in the glory of our history, in the world's new life and energy, in our reunited union, and exalted nationalism, our better laws, purer literature.

The war of the rebellion was a war of ideas, a war for their rights, and it marked the dawning of an eternal day of human liberty. The soldiers of the Rebellion have for 40 years been the body guard of our nation. They are object lessons of loyalty, friendship and charity. To teach the rising generation patriotism and devotion to the flag we need not go to Greece or Rome, but look to the examples in our own land.

Soldiers, there is a grand review coming. Your time for drill is passing. Have your moral armour bright so that it will not soil the white gloves finger of the final fudge. So live that when life is over you shall go to sleep in hope of eternal life.

happens it is. There is certainly a great deal of what is called religion. The church and the world are so eminently Christian that they use much the same methods of controversy and live with much the same theories. Good and evil are lying flat together, side by side in amicable truce. No voice disturbs the general self-congratulation or questions the common morality. The world is very powerful, and hates to be disturbed in its pleasant vices and comfortable religions. So long, indeed, as prophets dreading its wrath and reverencing its power, obey the mandates to speak to its smooth things and to prophesy deceits, so long as the world is perfectly civil to them. Over both of these the stern fore-runner and the Lord of Love bursts the blinding hurricane of the world's hatred. But in John the Baptist once more, for the last time, a prophet burst on the indignant and astonished age. No smooth, sleek, worldly, well-to-do prophet, but a new Elijah, a new Isaiah, not mincing matters, calling a spade a spade, exposing, denouncing, speaking out, revealing the thoughts of many hearts, showing no cringing fear of the people in high places, calling Priests and Levites a generation of vipers.

The real word of God is precious in these days, when prophets prophesy falsely. But let us ask what is a true prophet? The true function of the prophet was to be the moral reformer of his age, a repairer of the breach, a restorer of "paths to dwell in." Sometimes, nay, often, a church or a nation lies like a ship becalmed on the tropic sea. The air around it is heavy with pestilence and with death.

How can there be in an age in which the chief gospel is to teach our boys and girls mainly how to get rich and how to get on; how every clerk may come to keep his carriage and every apprentice rise to be a senator, as though it were the very consummation of felicity to scrape up money and the supreme end of man to become a millionaire—how can there be no sin in this, if Christ be the main object?

I warn you, young ladies and young men, against the worship of this human, hollow, gilt idol which dwarts into base mammon-worship so many who might otherwise have been, if not heroic, at least not so absolutely ignoble. Instead of this paltry lesson of prudential worldliness dwarfing men's lives to the narrow and impure horizon of the world, let us tell our young people of the great republic that the greater multitude of the very noblest and the very best, they who shine as the brightest stars in the firmament of human worth, they who on the dead levels of our common place have been among the mole-hills as mountains, and among the thistles as forest trees, have not got on in the vulgar sense at all? They have neither ridden in their carriages, nor flourished as the "green bay tree," nor left their substance to their babes; they have been the lowly, they have been hated, they have had to stand alone.

My young people, if to get rich is your ambition, Oh, get rich in heaven's name; if that be the best thing to do, so do it by honorable means and for generous objects; so you don't sell for it so much of soul as is left to you; so you mean to spend what God gives you for the good of others, at least in part, and not for your own selfishness, so you "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness that all other things may be added unto you." But if you want to do one fraction of the work of the prophet, you cannot serve God and Mammon.

What makes a man? Learning? The possession of a diploma? It may help make you a philosopher, scholar, sage, but learning by itself and outside of Christ leaves you undevout and frozen at heart. But with the knowledge you possess, if your soul be illuminated with the knowledge of God and of a world to come, from the calm of home and the discipline of school life, you enter upon the nobler and grander if sterner experiences of womanhood and manhood, which, safely passed through, shall bring you to the glory of Heaven. Amen.

LIGHTNING'S STROKE

SET A SIXTH STREET BUILDING ON FIRE SUNDAY.

Firemen Made Haste Through Driving Rain and Prevented a Serious Blaze.

While the storm was in the midst of its fury Sunday afternoon the dreaded fire bell pealed forth and called an immense crowd of people out in the beating, dashing rain to 158 Sixth street, the scene of the blaze. The building is owned by Michael J. Cloran and is occupied on the first floor by him and his saloon and the second story is used as his living apartment.

The quick response of the firemen saved a fierce fire. Its origin was the result of lightning striking an electric light wire which runs into the building, the electricity coming in contact with both the inside and the outside of the building immediately over the doorway of the first floor, instantly igniting the dry boards. When the firemen arrived they had some difficulty in reaching the flames, but this accomplished, they soon had them extinguished with but a small loss by fire. The loss by water was, however, more serious, it being estimated at about $300.

The living apartments were completely covered with water and the saloon fixtures were well soaked. The alarm being sent in when the rain was positively blinding the firemen are certainly worthy of commendation for their speedy work. They prevented a most destructive fire, the scene being in the center of a business district and among a row of frame buildings.

SORRY HALF DOZEN BEFORE THE MAYOR

His Honor in Perplexity When Called Upon to Try a Mute.

SPECTATOR HELPED HIM

And the Wheels of Justice Kept on Moving — Fines of $5.60 Imposed Upon a Number Who Tarried Long at the Wine.

In police court this morning the mayor was not confronted with the usual number of Saturday and Sunday offenders of the law. There were only six, and each was registered as a resident of the city with the plain drunk charge against them.

Officers Woods and Mahoney had their hands full when they tackled Daniel Lynch. Over six feet and weighing not less than 225 pounds he was certainly a load. To the charge he pleaded guilty and gave up $5.60. Curley Costello did not have a cent, but made arrangements to pay and was released. He was landed by Officer Morris.

Mike Strain, a brother of Jim, who is well acquainted with the mayor and his corps of protectors, staggered into Officer Aufderheide and had the pleasure of paying $5.60 for his awkwardness.

Because he wanted to run William Morrow's business and because he insisted on being the king bee, Alf Heakin was collared by Officer Dawson. For his ambition he was assessed and given orders to be more discreet hereafter.

When the mayor was informed that the next man to be arraigned was a mute he threw up his hands and exclaimed in tones of despair: "What will I do? He can't talk and what can I tell him?" A spectator conversant with the mute language offered his services and was allowed to try the case.

"John Broadbent, you are charged with being drunk and disorderly," said the spectator. "Are you guilty or not?" By a nod of his head John acknowledged his guilt.

"The sentence then promulgated is that you pay a fine of $1 and costs and that you stand committed and be imprisoned in the city jail until both are paid or secured to be paid, or otherwise released according to law."

"Your order is worthless coming from that concern—lock him up, marshal."

With this the peculiar case ended and the temporary mayor was given a tobie and released. Broadbent, it was also learned during the hearing, was in company with Robert Tice, the mute who met his death in a horrible manner Sunday morning, a few minutes before the fatal accident occurred. He expressed sorrow when told of his friend's mishap, but could offer no explanation of how he met his fate.

William Shepard was the last man up. He was arrested by Officer Morris and paid the customary fine for intoxication.

ELOQUENT ADVICE TO THE GRADUATES

Impressive Baccalaureate Sermon Delivered by Rev. Edwin Weary.

Desire for Wealth Not to Be Encouraged—To Be Useful to the World And Live Christian Lives the Great Desideratum.

The baccalaureate sermon to the high school class of 1902 was preached at St. Stephen's Episcopal church last evening to an unusually large congregation. The sermon was an eloquent and earnest one, and drew forth high praise from all who heard it.

Taking as his text Matthew, xxiii, 31-32, "Ye are the children of them which slew the prophets; fill ye up then, the measure of the fathers," the speaker said in part:

The interesting occasion on which we are gathered together this evening, bringing before us as it does that which has now become a possibility placed within the reach of our children through the admirable system of our public schools, suggests to our minds, amongst other things the extreme importance of presenting some ideal life, especially that of our Divine Master, to the young people present, in its happiest and most attractive aspect.

Young people are naturally disposed toward gaiety, pleasure and mirth. There is a certain natural and proper hilarity about youth which no wise man will either ignore or seek to repress, but this very characteristic of youth makes them somewhat indisposed to listen to words of more serious counsel, and disinclined to graver reflection. As a matter of fact it is with some difficulty that we are able to bring young people to anything like thoughtfulness or seriousness.

You, my young people, have left forever, as you think, the examination room, but you are only entering the larger examination hall of life. The responsibility of this class is great, for you not only enter upon a new life at the time, but also an age of characteristic spirit. Leaving school life you go forth into life's school to grapple with some of the hard problems that the world will call upon you to solve, as you walk the various avenues of life now open before you. You will find yourselves at times very much alone, and will miss the learned counsel and wise direction of your teachers.

That you may be able to find strength and solace in such trying hours, let me for your guidance endeavor to place before you some ideal life that you may copy. I could do no better than present to you the perfect life of Christ. Keep Him ever before you, for He will never fail you when all others may.

Apart from the ideal man Christ Jesus—there are others—great men, who have lived, and though dead, yet speak. Let me take out of the many noble characters recorded in sacred history, that of St. John, the Baptist, and let us consider some of the lessons suggested by that memorable life. We live in a world as sleek and as evil as that to which John preached; and

SCoured THE NEGRO QUARTERS IN SEARCH OF JACOB STEELE

If we are to achieve anything higher or more heroic, it can only be by the contemplation of great examples.

As no one can be a sculptor who does not accustom himself to gaze upon beautiful and noble forms, so he would either mould the plastic clay of his character in youth or carve the hard marble of his maturity and manhood, must do it by gazing on great ideals.

We sometimes hear this age of ours spoken of as eminently religious; per-

DEADLY LIGHTNING

CAME NEAR TO TWO MEN STANDING UNDER A TREE.

The Tree Was Shattered, But They Escaped Without Injury Except a Shock.

Two men, named Gorley and Cassidy, came dangerously near meeting death Sunday afternoon during the terrific thunderstorm.

They were standing under a tree in the old cemetery, located in the West End, for shelter from the rain, when a bolt of lightning struck it at the top and went crashing down to the ground, but luckily, for the men, on the opposite side of the tree from where they were standing. Both were badly shocked, but were worse scared, and will suffer no ill effects from their exciting experience.

IN NATURE'S CARB

A Lisbon Man Went Swimming in a Creek And Snocked the Residents.

Lisbon, May 26. — (Special) — Hamilton Adams, of this town, got drunk yesterday and went in swimming in the creek near the Jackson street bridge in the bathing suit provided for him by nature. This so shocked the residents of the East End that a policeman was sent for.

Hamilton became aware of what was going on and started a tour up town. He and the officer had a lively sprinting match across lots and through streets and alleys before he was captured and locked up.

Police Believe Chester Mill Men Wanted to String Up the Colored Man.

But the Intended Victim Succeeded in Keeping Out of Harm's Way.

And Caused Such Extreme Indignation That the Formation of the Mob Resulted—The Criminal Has Been In Hiding Since His Crime.

According to information that has reached the police, Jacob Steele, the supposed demented negro who made a vicious and outrageous assault upon William Farmer while he was sleeping at his home in Chester Tuesday night, ought to be glad he is alive today. At least 25 laborers of the Chester tin mill were on his trail Saturday night.

Since the story of the man's crime leaked out small crowds have been seen congregated on the streets and corners of Chester, talking earnestly but quietly, and it is now known that the subject of their conversation was the deed and its perpetrator. They were evidently much worked up. When word reached Chester Saturday night that the negro had been seen in the "Smoky Row" district of East Liverpool it was scarcely 10 minutes before a crowd of the mill men had procured two skiffs and were on their way to the city, armed and carrying a long rope, eager for a sight of the negro.

After landing on the Ohio shore the mob separated into four platoons, each starting in an opposite direction, but with the instruction to meet later at a designated place on Second street. If perchance any party ran across the criminal an alarm was to be given as quietly as possible and the mob would again form.

Until after 1 o'clock Sunday morning the parties scoured the lower parts of the city, but in vain. In a disgusted and disappointed mood they were compelled to return to the other side.

What the mob would have done had the man been apprehended can only be surmised.

Officer McDermott states that, from what he heard Sunday morning, after the chase had been given up, he is confident that the mob had a tree designated and everything in readiness to hang the man before the law could interfere.

The negro quarters of the city were scenes of intense excitement when the story became current. All swore that they had never seen the fellow, but would help to get him if he showed up.

Word from Steubenville states that Steele is located in that city, and it is likely that the authorities will investigate. They, however, believe that he is in hiding among the hills of West Virginia and do not anticipate finding him in this locality.

No Meeting Was Held.

There was to be a union meeting in the interests of the Anti-Saloon league in the Second Presbyterian church yesterday at 4 p. m. All arrangements had been made by the churches for such a meeting, but about 9 o'clock Saturday night Mr. Hare, a representative of the league, came to the East End and notified the East End pastors that the anti-saloon people would not hold an afternoon meeting, and Mr. Hare called off the meeting that was to be held in the Second church.

Injured By a Brakedown.

Lisbon, May 26. — (Special) — As George Harrington, a farmer, living near Logtown, was driving home Saturday evening with his wife, baby and little girl, the kingbolt of his buggy broke. In the spill which followed Mrs. Harrington had her nose broken and Mr. Harrington was kicked in the face and badly cut.

Class Pins Selected.

The senior class of the high school, after waiting some time, has at last received its class pins. The pins are quite unique, being made of sterling silver and artistically carved. They bear the letters and numbers, "E. L. H. S. 1902."

SEASON'S WORK REVIEWED

New Century Club Told of the Past Year And Elected Officers.

The last meeting of the year of the New Century club was that held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Betsy Pittenger. The meeting was wholly of a business nature and the officers for the ensuing year were elected.

The summary of the year's work was quite interesting, each member giving some idea of the benefit she had derived from the several meetings. Mrs. A. S. Young, the secretary, and

EAST END

LEAKY GARBAGE WAGONS

Cannot Do Business in the East End.
One Sent Up For Repairs.

Garbage wagons that travel the East End in the future must have air tight bottoms, or the arrest of the driver will be ordered by a councilman residing in that part of the city. Saturday morning one of these wagons was seen going along Pennsylvania avenue, and much of the garbage was falling through the bed of the wagon to the street. The odor was something terrible, and when it was discovered by Dr. Marshall the wagon was stopped, and the driver, under threat of arrest, was ordered to take the wagon to the city, and when he returned have a wagon with a good bed.

"Why," said Dr. Marshall, "a driver of such a wagon as that could collect all the garbage in the East End, and by the time he was ready to start to the garbage furnace he would not have half a load. We will not put up with such work as this."

The driver obeyed the bidding and started for the city immediately, not stopping to gather any more garbage in that part of the city during the morning.

AN INTERESTING GAME

Oakland Base Ballists Defeated the Ohioville Team on Saturday Afternoon.

One of the best base ball games ever seen in the East End was played last Saturday afternoon at Columbian park between the Oakland Athletic club and the Ohioville team. Of course the Oakland team won, and by a score of 12 to 8, but it is evident that some of the best work of the game was that of the visitors. The pitcher for the Ohioville team struck out 14 of the first 15 men up to the bat, but the errors of the other fielders of this team left a loop hole for the local team to win.

In all the Ohioville pitcher struck out 18 of the local players, but the best all-around playing was done by the Oakland boys. The game was an interesting one. It is likely another game will be played between these two teams within a short time. The attendance was large.

East Ender Went 20 Feet on a Train
And It Cost Him

Although Officer Fisher, of the East End, has made a number of arrests in the East End for train jumping, it seems that the practice has not yet been broken up. Yesterday a man giving his name as W. H. Brown, a well known married resident of the East End, jumped on a passing freight train and rode for about 20 feet. He was immediately stopped by Officer Fisher and placed under arrest. He appeared before Mayor Davidson this morning and paid $5.60, which is likely the highest priced ride the gentleman ever had.

At the same time John Lewis was arrested by Officer Fisher and for the same offense. He likewise contributed $5.60 to the city treasury.

Steubenville District M. E. Conference Will Convene in Erie Street Church.

The meeting of the Steubenville district conference of the M. E. church will open this evening at the Erie Street M. E. church, and between 50 and 60 visiting ministers and delegates are expected to be present. The program as published in this paper several weeks ago will be closely followed, and tomorrow morning at 6:30 o'clock there will be a sunrise prayer meeting.

The meeting will close tomorrow evening, and at this session, the date and place for holding the next district meeting will be decided upon.

The attendance at the opening meeting gives promise of being very large.

Meeting Postponed For a Week.

There was to have been a meeting of division No. 52, Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of this city, Saturday evening, but it was deferred for one week, in order that all the members might have a chance to attend. When the cars were placed in the barn on Saturday night, or Sunday morning, it was too late for all the members to attend the proposed session, consequently the meeting was called off.

The storm of yesterday and last evening caused some inconvenience to the East Liverpool railway company.

Saturday evening several wires in the East End were blown down, which caused the cars to be run on any old schedule. Yesterday afternoon the lightning knocked out the machines on car No. 15, and it was compelled to be pushed to the power house by another car.

Small Suit Settled.

The attachment case of Morris Bros. of East Palestine, against B. A. Mankins, of the East End, was settled in the court of Justice L. W. Carman Saturday evening. The amount involved was about $12.

Candidate to Preach.

The services at the Second United Presbyterian church next Sunday, both morning and evening, will be in charge of Rev. W. G. McVey, of Lawrence, Mass. He is a candidate for the vacant pulpit.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

James Blazier has removed his family from Mulberry street to his new home in Englewood.

J. E. Smith is confined to his home on St. George street with a threatened attack of pneumonia.

A little daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reed, of Georgetown. The young couple are well known in the East End.

Columbus, the child of Mr. and Mrs. K. Brannon, of Chaffinville, is very ill with typhoid fever. Its condition this morning was very low.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the Second U. P. church will give an entertainment in the Protected Home Circle hall tomorrow evening.

There will be a business meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church this evening. Some important missionary matters are to be considered.

Mrs. John Hays, who has been visiting her sister in Cincinnati for several weeks, returned home Saturday evening. Mrs. Hays made the visit for the purpose of visiting her sister, whom she had not seen since both were children.

Troops Punish Innocent With Guilty.

Pekin, May 26.—The rebellion in Chi Li province has been practically subdued, but the inhabitants of the province are complaining loudly of the forces under Yuan Shai Kai, the governor of Chi Li, and allege that his soldiers, in inflicting punishments, do not distinguish between the guilty and the innocent.

It is folly to suffer from that horrible plague of the night, itching piles. Doan's Ointment cures quickly and permanently. At any drug store 50 cents.

SACRIFICED HER LIFE

Youthful Nurse, Granddaughter of a Millionaire, Fell a Victim to Smallpox.

Cleveland, May 26.—Separated from relatives and attended only by a nurse, Miss Florence M. Crocker, granddaughter of the late Millionaire T. D. Crocker, died Saturday morning at Lakeside hospital of smallpox. The young lady had relatives in East Liverpool.

The death of Miss Crocker was pathetic. She had spent three years of her life in Lakeside hospital, acquiring training to become a professional nurse.

A few weeks ago while caring for a patient at the hospital Miss Crocker was exposed to the disease. She was removed to the isolated ward as soon as symptoms of smallpox appeared, and was given the best of care. A special nurse and doctor attended exclusively to her constantly.

While she was breathing her last a grief-stricken group of relatives sat in the family home at 845 Euclid avenue. Mrs. Dora H. Crocker, the mother, widow of Otis Crocker, was denied a last word with her dying child by the strict rules of the health department. By her side sat Mrs. D. T. Crocker, the grandmother, and Theo. D. Crocker, a brother of the dying girl, who had been called home from the Ohio state university at Columbus, where he is a student. She was conscious to the last.

A LAWYER'S EXPERIENCE.

The Story of a Convicted Man, a Pardon and a Pointer.

"A good many years ago," said a well known Michigan lawyer who was reminiscing the other day, "I became greatly interested in a state prison case. A young farmer was charged with having driven off ten out of a flock of twelve sheep and sold them to a butcher. He put up a fair defense, but was convicted and sentenced to a term of three years.

"There were plenty of people who believed that he was perfectly innocent, and even the butcher who bought the sheep came in time to doubt if he had identified the right party. After the case had stirred up a whole county I took a hand in it. In my petition to the governor I had the evidence of the young man's father, mother and sweetheart, and I got eight of the jurors to sign it. I made out such a good case that the governor took it under advisement and finally agreed to issue a pardon. In speaking to me of the case he said:

"There is no sort of doubt in my mind that this was a case of mistaken identity, and I shall be only too glad to restore the young man to liberty."

"It became my pleasant duty to drive seven miles over the muddiest of roads to bear the news to the parents that a pardon was to be issued. The old man was under the weather and in bed in a room off the parlor. The wife received me and sobbed over the good news and then went in to break it to her husband. That partition wall was thin, and they both spoke in loud tones, and I plainly heard her say:

"Oh, Samuel, there's a man here who says our John is to be pardoned tomorrow!"

"You don't say," he exclaimed.

"Yes; it's certainly so."

"Going to be pardoned right out, eh?"

"Yes; he is."

"Waal, waal, that's good news. Say, Mary, what a fool John was not to get the other two sheep while he was about it."

"I left the rejoicing farmhouse, in tending to wire the governor to withhold the pardon," said the lawyer. "But it presently struck me that I had advanced about twenty good reasons why the young man couldn't be guilty, and I therefore decided to sing small and let things go on. He was duly pardoned and sent home, and the governor never met me for years after without congratulating me on rehabilitating an innocent man wrongly convicted!"—Detroit Free Press.

The Encroaching Lake.

One of the humorously attractive characteristics of a child is his large sense of personal importance. A little girl was walking with her father on the shore of a large lake, where the waves were gently lapping up on the beach. Suddenly one came up higher than the others and swept over her foot, when she exclaimed, "Oh, papa, the lake stepped on my toe!"

His Position in Politics.

"He's going in for politics. Wouldn't he make a splendid diplomat, though?" "What? Why, he's a deaf mute." "Exactly. Just think how easy it would be for him to be absolutely dumb when it was expedient." "Yes, but then he could never talk without showing his hand."—Philadelphia Record.

PRIESTS TALKED TO STRIKERS.

In Some Churches Foreigners Urged to Stick to Leaders—Other Workmen May Strike.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 26.—The circular which President Mitchell sent out Saturday warning the Polish, Slavish and Lithuanian miners to remain away from the bituminous region of Virginia and West Virginia where strikes are now in progress, was read in many of the churches Sunday where the foreign miners attend services. Some of the clergy made remarks urging the strikers to be law-abiding and be guided by their leaders, so long as the leaders were faithful to the trust reposed in them. Some of the Polish and Lithuanian clergymen are said to be opposed to the strike, or were opposed to it before it was declared, on the ground that the people entrusted to their spiritual care were not prepared to stand a long siege of idleness.

Secretary Mullahy, of the Stationary Firemen's union, reported yesterday that the poll of the foremen employed at the various collieries has just been completed and that over 90 per cent of the men will quit work on June 2 unless an eight-hour day is granted them. Another officer of the union admits that the percentage of engineers who will quit work will not be as large, but nearly so. What percentage of the pumpmen will come out is not as yet known. If the local operators are to be believed, it will be small and there will be no trouble in filling all vacancies that may occur.

Meetings of railroad men to discuss the advisability of refusing to handle non-union and bituminous coal during the progress of the miners' strike were held in Wilkesbarre, Kingston and Ashley yesterday afternoon. All three meetings were secret. It was given out that at the Wilkesbarre meeting no action was taken. The meeting at Kingston agreed to take the matter up at another meeting to be held next week. The Ashley meeting endorsed the miners' strike and will render financial aid. The railroad brotherhoods with headquarters in this city will also give financial assistance, but it is said will not resort to a sympathetic strike.

GARRIGAN A BISHOP.

Consecrated as Head of the Catholic See of Sioux City, Iowa.

POPE CONGRATULATED HIM.

Bishop Beaven Officiated, Assisted by Others—Sermon Preached by Archbishop Keane—Services in Cathedral, at Springfield, Mass.

Springfield, Mass., May 26.—The Rt. Rev. Dr. Philip J. Garrigan, vicar of the Catholic university at Washington, was solemnly consecrated bishop of Sioux City, Ia., in St. Michael's cathedral Sunday.

The ceremony began at 10:30 o'clock and lasted four hours. Just before the close of the services a cablegram was received from Pope Leo XIII congratulating Bishop Garrigan and giving the papal blessing to him and his diocese.

The Rt. Rev. Thomas D. Beaven, bishop of Springfield, was the consecrator, assisted by the Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, rector of the Catholic university, and the Rt. Rev. Edward B. Allen, bishop of Mobile, Ala. There were present 150 priests and prelates of the church, including Archbishop Williams, of Boston; Archbishop J. J. Keane, of Dubuque, Ia.; Bishop Dennis Bradley, of Manchester, N. H.; Bishop Matthew Harkins, of Providence, R. I.; Bishop P. A. Ludden, of Syracuse, N. Y.; Bishop Henry Gabriels, of Ogdensburg, N. Y.; Bishop John Brady, of Boston; Bishop John S. Michaud, of Burlington, Vt.; Bishop Michael Tierney, of Hartford, Conn., and Bishop M. A. Burke, of Albany.

The sermon was delivered by Archbishop Keane and was highly complimentary to Bishop Garrigan.

The new bishop expects to remain in the east until the middle of June, when he will go to his diocese.

Large Mass Meeting Held—Delegates Occupied Pulpits Sunday—Missionary Services.

Baltimore, May 26.—Delegates to the fourteenth triennial general synod of the Reformed church held a largely attended mass meeting in Ford's opera house Sunday afternoon. The Sunday school and young people's society work were discussed. Addresses were made as follows: "The Sunday School Teacher an Inspiring Personality," Rev. Prof. George W. Richards, Lancaster, Pa.; "The Last Words of Our Saviour," Miss Elinor S. Lutes, Philadelphia; "The Relation of the Sunday School to the Benevolent Work of the Church," Rev. Theodore F. Herman, Lafayette, Ind.; "From the Child's Standpoint," Rev. J. H. Bomberger, D. D., Cleveland, O.; "The Relation of the Young People's Society to the Missionary Work of the Church," Rev. A. R. Bartholomew, D. D., Allentown, Pa.

All the pulpits of the Reformed churches in the city, as well as many of those of other denominations, were occupied Sunday by the visiting clergymen. A communion service was held in the First church during the forenoon.

Services in the interest of home and foreign missionary work were held in all the Reformed churches last night.

Listened to by Baptists—Young People's Union Sessions Begun.

St. Paul, May 26.—Baptists from all parts of the country, Sunday morning, at the Central Presbyterian church, listened to the annual missionary sermon, a feature of anniversary week. The audience was exceptionally large. Dr. A. C. Dixon's sermon was largely allegorical, based on the vision of the prophet Ezekiel. Visiting ministers occupied the pulpits of many of the Protestant churches, both morning and evening.

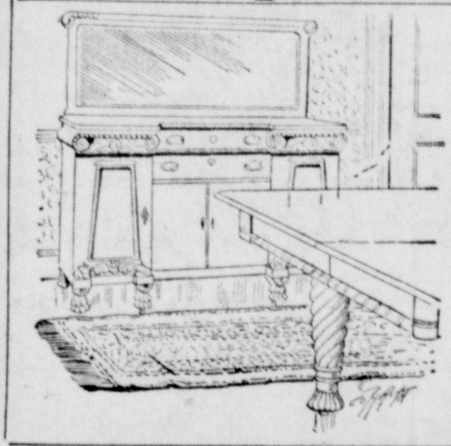

The sessions of the Baptist Young People's union began yesterday afternoon. The attendance was large. The annual convention of the union will not occur until July. Yesterday's meetings were therefore, largely of a preparatory nature.

The American Baptist Home Mission society will continue the sessions of its seventieth anniversary today, which were begun on Saturday. The annual election of officers will be held in the afternoon, and in the evening an open parliament will precede the addresses on western mission work. The evening session will close the annual meeting of the organization, the last of the great church societies to convene.

Pennsylvanian Moderator.

Ablene, Kan., May 26.—The business sessions of the International River Brethren conference closed Sunday. Rev. Martin Oberholzer, of Pennsylvania, was elected moderator; Rev. George Detwiler, of Ablene, and Rev. Frederick Elliot, of Canada, secretaries. The conference voted not to allow the use of organs in the churches and located the church paper at Harrisburg, Pa., where next year's conference will be held.

Milk preserved with formaldehyde has been the cause of several cases of serious illness in Columbus, according to physicians of that city. The wife of a professor at the State university was made dangerously ill by eating cream that had been treated with the dangerous preservative, and the result is that state and local health authorities are making a vigorous crusade to stop the traffic in "doctored" milk. A dairyman has been arrested, charged with selling poisoned milk, and the health authorities are piling up a mass of evidence, hoping to dispose of his case in a manner that will be an object lesson to other offenders. According to medical testimony, formalin, the formaldehyde product, is an irritant, poison, and frequently causes death. Even in small quantities, in milk that is fed to babes and children, it is extremely dangerous. The fact that avaricious and unprincipled men are using this drug, with an utter recklessness of consequences, in treating a food in such universal use as milk, should arouse health authorities everywhere to the most vigorous efforts to punish the guilty ones and prevent the spread of the practice.

Governor General Wood gives a review of the developments in Cuba since the American occupation which will stand as an unquestionable record of fact. It may be said also that the record can be turned very properly to his own credit. Though the American occupation brought with it the power of beneficence, much depended upon the individuals who were chosen to carry on the American administration. If they had been generally of the character of Rathbone and Neeley there was no special charm to be found in the name American which would have been a guarantee of good government. Whatever has been accomplished has been a personal success for Governor Wood as well as a national success for his country. It should be recorded also that there is something more to his credit than the successes of administration alone. He has been a steadfast friend of the Cuban people, one of the most powerful and convincing advocates of that reciprocity which they desire so much. Both they and their American friends have been fortunate in the finding of such an able and honest public servant in a period of great emergency.

A work that a few years ago would have been considered impossible, or else would have required months of labor, was accomplished at New Brunswick, N. J., in less than two minutes. A railroad bridge 900 feet long was moved 14 1/2 feet in that time and satisfactorily placed in the new location prepared for it. Such triumphs of mechanical engineering are becoming so common that they have almost ceased to attract attention. Tasks that once would have occupied years if not a life-time, are now accomplished in a few weeks or months. It is a progressive age, and American ingenuity and enterprise are all the time learning to do things with ease and dispatch that would have been marvelous in the eyes of our fathers.

According to Frederick Haynes Newell, there is no danger of the United States becoming overcrowded very soon. Mr. Newell has made a study of the subject, and finds that there are 100,000,000 acres, mainly government land, capable of being made fertile by irrigation. And there are other millions of acres, now neglected, capable also of producing good crops, as soon as they receive the proper attention from the man with the hoe.

Indiana is priding itself on the showing it is making in the literary world, and not without reason. A state that can claim such writers as Gen. Lew Wallace, James Whitcomb Riley, Charles Major, Booth Tarkington and Mary Hartwell Catherwood ought to be able to establish a strong claim to a good sized niche in the American Temple of Fame.

At the age of 82 the venerable Herbert Spencer has at last laid aside the pen that has exercised such a powerful influence upon the thought of his country. In his forthcoming volume, "Facts and Comments," Mr. Spencer announces that he has written his last book.

Again prophets have arisen, predicting that the world is coming to an end. It is surprising, considering the recent season of volcanic activity and attendant calamities, that they have delayed the announcement so long. The prophets are certainly less industrious than they used to be.

"Why, anything wrong with him this morning?"

"I should say so! Do you know I merely asked him to take down the stovepipe, and take up the parlor carpet, and hang the new curtains on the bay window, and stain the dining room floor, and move the piano to the east corner, and he drew into a rage and acted as if he had lost all the mind he thinks he's got."—Atlanta Constitution.

The following, written by a member of one of the Sebring locals, will be read with interest by both manufacturers and members of the trade in this city: "Now that the national convention is over I desire to express my opinion of the business transacted at the convention. It seems to me that it is a wasteful expenditure of money to hold national conventions if they don't do any more business than was done at the Trenton convention. After hearing the delegates report I could only come to one conclusion and that was this, that the conference court will have more business to transact than the convention did. Every essential issue that was brought before the convention was referred to this committee. The only significant thing they did was to turn down the resolution that kindreders be paid $1.75, thereby placing themselves on record as being the only convention of workingmen who have the hardihood to say that $1.50 is enough for a man to receive for a day's work. Now it seems to me that the proper thing for that convention to have done was to pass that resolution and if the conference committee couldn't work it through, why then they could probably make a compromise, even if it were only five cents. It seems there are too many, trolley rides, too many pictures taken, too many smokers, too many institutions visited, too many resolutions laid on the table indefinitely, too many things referred to the conference committee that should have been acted upon in the convention. I was disappointed in the way some resolutions were treated by the convention."

The movement at Trenton for the organization of several new locals is meeting with more success than was anticipated. There was only a small attendance at the meeting of the warehouse women Monday evening, but this is said to have been caused by another meeting which many of the warehouse women attended. The meeting was addressed by Vice President Frank H. Hutchins, of Trenton. Last Friday evening another meeting of these women was held at the same place, when it was expected a permanent organization would be formed. The pottery printers of Trenton also held a meeting last week at which no less than ten shops were represented. Thirty printers signed a paper favoring a local, and arrangements were made for another meeting next Thursday evening, and it may be that an application will be made for a charter at that time. The sagger makers of that city are also after an individual local. Members of this trade are in many instances affiliated with kilnmen's local No. 35, of Trenton, but the claim is made that if the sagger makers organize a separate local many sagger makers employed in the eastern plants, not now members of any local, will join the new organization.

Secretary T. J. Duffy, of the National Brotherhood of Operative potters, has sent a communication to the Trenton Sanitary Manufacturing Potters' association asking for a conference within the next thirty days to revise the price list which is now in force in the Trenton sanitary shops. About a week preceding the conference, the conference committee which was appointed at the last convention to meet the manufacturers, will meet in Trenton to prepare a price list from statistics obtained from the various plants. The majority of the sanitary potteries at Trenton are paying a fair price for the manufacture of sanitary ware, the price having been fixed by the several shop committees. Still a number of specialties have been introduced in the sanitary line during the past year for which no uniform price is paid. The object of the conference will be to make the prices more uniform. A new set of working rules will probably be drafted.

There will be practically six new potteries to come on the market for fall business—all built, equipped and manned for the highest efficiency in pottery manufacture and all backed with ample capital as well as controlled by the best experience. Two or three of these are already showing some excellent productions, but will not be fully ready with complete stocks till July. Four of them will manufacture high-grade semi-vitreous porcelain, viz: Thomas China company, Lisbon, six kilns; Shenango China company, New Castle, six kilns; Harborton Pottery Company, Harborton, seven kilns; Laughlin China company, No. 3, twelve kilns—in all 31 kilns. The New Castle Pottery company, six kilns and the Dresden China company, Salineville, six kilns, will manufacture china exclusively.

With the completion of the new addition which the Monument Pottery company contemplates, it will be one of the largest manufacturing porcelain in Trenton. The main building, which is three stories high, with basement, is 180 feet long and 110 feet wide. The building will cost about $70,000. A new kiln shed is also being

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's. "I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." Mrs. WILLIAM G. BARRETT, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. I. Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

built, which measures 136 feet by 72 feet. The smaller building will have a capacity of six kilns, and will cost about $4,500 each. The plant, which is controlled by the L. Wolf Manufacturing company, of Chicago now has a capacity of 56 men. When the new addition is finished the plant will call for about 125 men.

The repairs to the Akron pottery, as a result of the late fire, have about been completed. The plant is now in operation but not in full. A small force is employed in the decorating department and the jiggersmen started work Thursday. All the glost ware that was in the fire and damaged by smoke and water has been cleaned by washing, and much of this ware has been found to be in first class condition, and can be sold. By so doing the company can save considerable that would otherwise have been lost.

An operative working in one of the Akron potteries, ventures the following which will be read with interest: "The union label on ware will never prove the Archimedeian lever that its promoters expect it to be. The future will prove this to be the case. It will have its agreeable and disagreeable features, and now that it is to be put in use the potters can soon discover how many pottery manufacturers are willing to avail themselves of its use in signing the agreement that goes with it."

A number of workmen at the Ford City pottery are in favor of having an eight-hour day law passed. They claim that if the operatives cannot make sufficient money during that length of time the prices of ware should be advanced so that the men need not be compelled to work from 10 to 12 hours a day to make reasonable wages. They desire, however, to see the 10-hour law enforced before the eight-hour law is asked.

Trade during the past week has been somewhat quiet, though some of the plants have been just as busy as ever. In one shop in particular the packers are rushed, and every cask packed is rushed to the station with marked speed. It is evident the jobbers have completed placing their orders for spring trade, and it will not be long now until orders for the fall business will be coming in.

There are over 1,000 pieces of ware in the Alice Maddock collection of pottery which was presented to the Trenton art school recently. Much of the ware is of foreign make, while about 600 pieces are from this and other countries. It has been said, and by pottery experts, that the gift will form the nucleus for a ceramic museum that will rank with the best in the nation.

In order that most of the day may be spent at Rock Springs park June 2 a number of the employees of the Lisbon pottery will come to the outing over the county road. If they came by train they would have very little time to spend with their friends in this city. It is expected that not less than 200 Lisbon people will be at the picnic.

Among the locals meeting this evening are turners and handlers, No. 10; pressers, No. 4; printers and transferers, No. 32; sagger makers, No. 16 and gliders No. 19. Some of the meetings give promise of being very interesting.

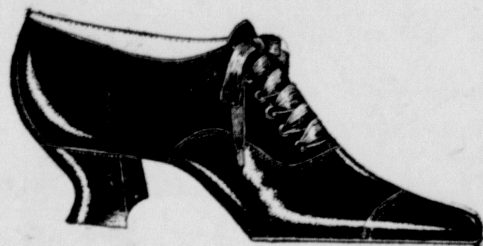

Phil A. Tallon, a kilnman employed in the Mercer plant, Trenton, died a few days ago as a result of injuries received several weeks ago. A bung of saggars fell on him, and he was confined in a hospital until his death.

CITY STORAGE HOUSE

At the meeting of council a number of questions very important to the city's welfare will be presented for consideration and action. Among them will be whether or not a tool house will be built for the proper preservation of the city's working and street cleaning paraphernalia. Since the new street sprinkler and sweeper arrived it has been found that there is not room for all the apparatus. The tools were purchased by the city at a high price and council will most assuredly be sanctioned by every taxpayer in the city if it takes steps toward having the building erected and thereby saving a big expense in repairs.

It is estimated that ground can be purchased and the house built for less than $2,000. The old building, it is argued, can be rented for $500 per year, and if that be true the city will profit by having a new building erected that will fill all requirements. Quite a number of the old wagons and other implements that are only used occasionally and that have heretofore been under roof at the fire station can be removed to the house, and the firemen will be given plenty of room for the storage of the equipments.

Solicitor Boyd will likely address council on the advisability of the plan, and there is little doubt that the councilmen will look upon it favorably.

REPAIRING BAD PLACES

Plumbers And Others Who Tore Up Streets Are Now Mending Them.

The notice given by Mayor Fogo to all plumbers, sewer diggers and other persons who have in the past dug up paved streets at will, that they must repair all parts of the streets which they have torn up, is having the desired effect. The notice, it seems, was sufficient. The people for whose benefit it was issued are conforming to it as speedily as possible, and there will be no litigation or fine imposed if they continue as they have started.

The hundreds of chuck holes, which have for a year made the streets almost impassable and, to say the least, very aggravating to teamsters, bicycle riders and others, are being obliterated, and in a short time every street in the city will be in the first-class shape. Street Commissioner Herbert is taking unusual pains with the thoroughfare, and the result of his work is readily recognized. With his force of white wings and by the use of the sweeper and sprinkler, with but little effort, he keeps the streets scrupulously clean.

FIXING UP THE FLOOR

Important And Necessary Repairs in the Fire Department Headquarters.

Work was commenced this morning on the raising of the floor in the fire headquarters of the city building, which has sunk about three inches on one side of the building.

The improvement committee of council inspected the floor last week and decided that the work must be done at once. Girders will be placed underneath the floor to brace it.

BOUGHT A BIG SAFE

Dollar Savings Bank Officials Made an Important Purchase Saturday.

President George H. Owen and Cashier Harry Hall, of the recently incorporated Dollar Savings bank, which will be carrying on business within a few weeks, returned Saturday night from Buffalo, N. Y., where they purchased a safe for the bank which is beyond a doubt one of the largest and best. It is seven feet and nine inches high and five feet and five inches wide. On the inside it is 65 inches high, 55 inches wide and 28 inches deep.

The monster piece of mechanism is fireproof on the outside and burglar proof on the inside, making it one of the most valuable safes ever built. The purchase was made from the Cary Safe company, and it will be shipped in three weeks.

Mr. Harry Cavendish, who is but twenty-six, has already won a reputation as an explorer and hunter of big game. He has made several expeditions to Africa and has visited America in search of big game. Mr. Cavendish at one time showed marked attention to Edna May, the American actress.

One night the young explorer sat in a proscenium box and blissfully gazed at his innamorata while the fair Edna played to that box with all her power. Presently a huge bunch of gorgeous roses, American Beauties, were dropped on the stage at her feet. They came from the hands of Mr. Cavendish.

That was probably the most expensive bunch of roses that was ever presented to any one on the stage, for, not counting the roses, which were worth a dollar each, there was a cluster ring cunningly concealed among the blossoms that cost Mr. Cavendish not less than $2,500.

But that was a mere bagatelle compared with other gifts bestowed upon Miss May by Mr. Cavendish.

Everything in Readiness For the Republican State Convention Tomorrow.

ONLY TWO CONTESTS ON

These Are for Supreme Judge And for Dairy And Food Commissioner—Impossible to Pick the Winners—Personal Notes From the Capital.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, May 26.—The state officials leave today to attend the Republican state convention which opens in Cleveland tomorrow. Governor Nash went to Cleveland this morning. He will open headquarters at the Hollenden. He will preside as temporary chairman. The only contests will be those over the nominations for dairy and food commissioner and judge of the supreme court. Both are so mixed that it is impossible to tell at this moment who the winners will be.

Judge Crew, of Morgan county, seems to be a prominent candidate in the judgeship fight, but the field is against him, which may mean his defeat. He made a hard fight for the nomination a year ago, and only lost by a narrow margin. The Eighteenth district will be interested most in the candidacy of Hon. M. A. Norris, of Youngstown, who may prove to be quite a factor in the judgeship fight. There are no other candidates from the district.

The candidates for dairy and food commissioner are Fred Herbst and Linas B. Kauffman, of Columbus, and Representative Ankeny, of Greene county. All three seem to be pretty well matched. Ankeny has been pledged the support of a number of his colleagues.

Governor Nash was selected as one of the delegates from this county to the state convention on Saturday. His opponents tried hard to defeat him and came near doing it, as he only won by a few votes.

Mrs. Wylie King, of this city, formerly of East Liverpool, was stricken with severe illness one day last week and for a time her life was despaired of. She suffered a serious surgical operation and has since almost entirely recovered. John Wallace, an East Liverpool law student at the Ohio State university, is convalescent after an attack of fever.

Mr. Wallace and Mr. Harris, of Salem, who is also a student at the Ohio State university, will take the state bar examination, which begins June 3.

The United Commercial Travelers of Ohio closed their annual meeting in this city with a big parade Saturday afternoon. They will meet in Cincinnati in 1903. Zanesville and Canton made bids for the honor in order to put themselves in line for another time. Zanesville expects to get the convention in 1904 and Canton in 1905.

VIGOROUSLY DECLARED BY ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE ORATORS.

A Number of Them Preached on the Coming Crusade in This City
And Wellsville.

In several of the churches of this city and Wellsville the Ohio Anti-Saloon forces held sway Sunday, both morning and evening. There were four of the state officers present and each delivered two lectures, advocating the principal of the league and giving a full explanation of what the recent passage of the Beall bill at Columbus has already done and what it will do for the league.

Rev. Perley A. Baker, superintendent of the league, in his address before the congregation at the United Presbyterian church, made some very emphatic and bold statements in regard to the ultimate prosperity of the league.

"Through the efforts of the league," said he, "the people of a municipality can have the saloon abolished by a majority of votes being cast against it. Our next step will be to have a ward and county local option bill passed, and the step following that will be the last one—a constitutional amendment that will prohibit absolutely the sale of intoxicating beverages. In the state of Ohio there are 700 incorporated towns. At least 200 of them will take advantage of the Beall bill, and at the present time there are 700 townships that have no saloons."

The speaker then cited the disadvantage and discouragements that had fallen in the way of the league since its organization, and in an extremely logical manner forecasted the future.

At Wellsville today Rev. Mr. Baker met the ministerial association of both cities and talked over the advisability of having a vote cast by the residents of both cities in the near future on the saloon abolishing question under the Beall law. It will be necessary for 40 per cent of the voters to sign a petition asking that a vote be taken before one can be instituted, and it is considered very doubtful whether the number can be secured.

MOTHER-IN-LAW BLAMED

FOR BREAKING UP JOHN
BROOK'S HAPPY HOME.

His Youthful Wife at Last Became a
Him Away.

Lisbon, May 26.—(Special)—John Brook, who was recently made defendant in a divorce and alimony suit has filed his side of the story in court, in the nature of an answer and cross petition. He married Verna Robinson in Salisbury, this county, four years ago when she was less than 16 years of age. They came to this city and lived here six months and during this time he says that his wife's mother, who was a divorced woman, constantly endeavored to make trouble between them.

Brook was not making a large salary, but he was compelled to hire a livery team every Saturday at a cost of $6 and take her to her mother's home to spend Sunday and finally to throw up his position and move there. Then he was forced to walk two miles to work in Irondale every morning until he grew tired of it and moved to Cleveland and secured work. He says they lived there a short time when he was again compelled to move back to Salisbury. When he finally remonstrated with her she struck him over the head with a pair of shears. He also says that she was a constant scold and made his life miserable until he was finally compelled to leave her just one year after their marriage.

Mrs. Brook accuses him of having disowned her child, but Brook says that she frequently told him that it was not his. Brook wants a divorce and asks the court to give the child to him.

Wintering in Colorado And Utah.

The climate of Colorado and Utah has long been world famous, but it is only within recent years that attention has been given to the delightful winter climate of these states. Today physicians all over the United States send their patients to Colorado and Utah to escape the rigors of eastern winters and to benefit by her invigorating atmosphere and health-giving sunshine.

It is not necessary to add an elaborate argument—the conclusion is self-evident and inevitable. The winter climate of Colorado and Utah on the whole presents advantages for the invalid and the pleasure-seeker that cannot fail to command attention.

An erroneous impression prevails that because the Rocky mountains have a high elevation the mercury in the thermometer drops down below zero in the winter season and stops there, and that the snow mounts up with the altitude. The fact is that the average precipitation of moisture in the lowlands of the mountain region during the entire year is only 14.15 inches. With such average precipitation there is practically no danger of snow blockades on the railroads, save at a few points exposed to drifts and these points have been amply protected. This is especially true of the lines of the Denver & Rio Grande and the Rio Grande Western between Denver and Ogden at all seasons of the year. Facts speak for themselves, and the fact is that travel over "The Scenic Line of the World" has gone on with less interruption from snow blockades during the last ten winters than it has upon the majority of railroads in other localities which are popularly supposed to be more free from such delays than the mountain systems. WALLER CONDEMNED

proves of Findings of Court Martial.

RETALIATION, NOT ACT OF WAR,

Was His Action In Sending Natives
to Their Death—Could Have Tele-
phoned Gen. Smith Before Giving
Order—Day Should Have Disobeyed

Manila, May 26.—The official findings of the court martial which tried Major L. W. T. Waller and Lieutenant John H. A. Day, of the marine corps, for executing natives of the island of Samar without trial, have been made public. The reviewing authority of the court has expressed its disapproval of the court's findings in both cases.

Referring to the case of Major Waller, the reviewing authority says:

More of Unlawful Retaliation.

"The sending of the natives in question to their death partook more of unlawful retaliation than a justifiable act of war. In justice to the American military service, the findings of acquittal demand that they shall not meet with unqualified approval. The marines in Samar underwent great suffering before their rescue, and their officers, from their sick beds, voiced the revengeful anger of the men who telephoned to Major Waller advising that the stevedores be killed. Major Waller received this message while he was sick, prostrate from a fever, suffering acute pain of body due to exposure in behalf of his men and mental anguish concerning their fate, which had long been in doubt. Major Waller was at the time in telephonic communication with General Smith, who commanded the African forces in Samar, but he deliberately chose not to consult General Smith regarding his contemplated action, and, rather than forego the execution of his unrestrained will, he assumed the power of the laws of war and the customs of the service confer upon commanding officers only in time of war.

"Giving heed to the mental attitude of Major Waller, as much of the findings of the court as are to the effect that Major Waller is not guilty of murder are approved. But the reviewing authority is at a loss to understand why the court did not find against Major Waller in the minor offense. With the exception noted the acquittal, as it appears in the record of the proceedings, is disapproved."

Referring to the case of Lieutenant Day, the reviewing authority says:

Day Should Have Disobeyed.

"The accused knew that for three weeks Major Waller had undergone a test of his mental and physical endurance such as few men are called upon to suffer. While fully conceding the grave responsibility assumed by a subordinate officer in wilfully disobeying an order of his commanding officer, still the weighty reasons related, with which Lieutenant Day was acquainted, so tainted Major Waller's order that Lieutenant Day should have been prompted to positive disobedience. An officer must be conscientiously regardless of the unquestioned legality of his agency in taking lives of his fellow men. Above and beyond all personal considerations officers must guard the name and honor of the country. Had Lieutenant Day been actuated by such considerations he would probably have prevented one of the most regrettable incidents in the annals of the military service of the United States."

LOUBET VISITED COPENHAGEN.

Shown Honors by Danish King and Royal Family.

Copenhagen, May 26.—President Loubet, who, after his visit to the czar of Russia, left Cronstadt, May 25, for France on the French cruiser Montcalm, landed here yesterday after a favorable and rapid voyage through the Baltic. He was met on the French torpedo destroyer Cassini to which he had been transferred, by King Christian, the Danish crown prince and other members of the royal family.

At the Amalienborg Castle luncheon was served to the royal family and the French visitors. Complimentary toasts were exchanged between the king and the president. Later King Christian and M. Loubet together drove about Copenhagen and then returned to the harbor. The French party sailed later.

Vienna Arrests Inquiry Secret.

Naples, May 26.—The court of inquiry being held on board the United States cruiser Chicago to investigate the arrests of certain officers of that cruiser at Venice, April 25, continued its sessions, but the strictest secrecy regarding the proceedings of the court was maintained. Orders have been received on the Chicago from Washington that the findings of the court shall not be divulged until they are passed upon by the United States government.

FARMERS TO FIGHT THE TRUST.

Co-Operative Company Buys Elevators to Fight Flour Combine.
Will Ship to England.

Kansas City, Mo., May 26.—Walter Vrooman, of the Western Co-operative movement, has closed contracts for the purchase of six of the largest wheat elevators in the Kansas wheat belt and two of the largest flouring mills. The price paid is said to have been $750,000, and Mr. Vrooman, who has left for New York to complete the financial end of the plan, says the present purchase is but the beginning of a movement to center the farmers of Kansas in a co-operative branch of the Vrooman co-operative company. The concern will be known as the Wheat and Flour Western Co-operative company. The farmers are to be taken into the scheme upon the payment of $100 each, for which they are to receive the market value of their wheat sold to the company, and, in addition, will receive one-half of the profit derived, the other half going to co-operative stores through which the wheat and flour will be handled. "The plan," said Mr. Vrooman, "is to eliminate wheat speculators and the middlemen. The farmers are in earnest sympathy with the movement. It is the only way to head off the talked-of flour trust that is forming in New York."

It is intended to ship to Great Britain, to be sold among the co-operative members there, the surplus product not disposed of in Kansas and Missouri.

ORDINANCE NO. 718.
An Ordinance to Amend Section 323 of the Revised Ordinances of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio:

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the council of the city of East Liverpool, Ohio, that Section 323 of the Revised Ordinances of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, be amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 323. All curbing shall be of stone of a thickness not less than six inches from end to end at surface, permanently set in the earth not less than eighteen inches and so as not to be removed by caving, and showing at least six inches above the surface on the side next the street. All sidewalks shall correspond with the grade adopted by council and shall incline or slope towards the curb stone or outer side, not exceeding three-fourths or less than one-half inch to the foot. All sidewalks shall be of hard burned paving brick, flag stone or other equally as good material, and no pavement shall be laid until the bed, upon which said pavement is to be laid, shall be approved and satisfactory to the street commissioner and city engineer. On streets fifty feet or over, said pavement may be laid so as to leave a space between the curb and outer line of pavement for grass, trees or other ornament; said pavement shall be laid with a foundation of five inches of gravel or boiler ashes and two inches of sand, subject to the approval of the street commissioner or city engineer."

Section 2. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances conflicting with this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed this 15th day of May 1902.

BEYOND A DOUBT

Good Hard Facts Told in as Few Words as Possible.

Mrs. George Hall, of No. 329 West Market street, East Liverpool, Ohio, says: "I was bilious. My head ached hard and constantly. There was a general feeling of weakness and depression. I was asked to try Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, and did so, getting them at Larkins' drug store. The result was very good indeed, as the biliousness was overcome, the headaches cured and bodily and nerve strength furnished. Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment I can vouch for in burns as a fine application."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine company, Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

DELAY CUBAN BILL

By Postponing Vote on Canal Measure Hope of Beet Sugar Men.

COUNT ON HELP OF MINORITY.

If It Can Be Held Off Until After Disposal of Appropriation Bills There May Be No Cuban Legislation This Session.

Washington, May 26.—The members of the French mission which came to Washington to attend the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the Rochambeau statue finished their visit here yesterday, and last night left the city for Niagara Falls on their week's tour of the east before sailing for home. There were no formal functions on the program for the day, but the visitors found every minute of their time occupied in attending divine services, returning numerous calls, official and otherwise, and in drives about the city and suburbs.

Heard Cardinal Gibbons Preach.

Ambassador Cambon accompanied the members of the mission to St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock in the morning, where low mass was said by the Rev. Dr. Mangin, of Baltimore, the Right Rev. Monsignor Rooker, of the Apostolic delegation, and other priests assisting. The visitors wore the full uniform of their rank. Cardinal Gibbons preached a short sermon. In part, he spoke of the French missionaries who had crossed the seas to America, and preached the gospel to the aboriginal inhabitants, carrying the torch of faith in one hand, and the torch of civilization in the other. It was meet and proper that the sons of France should assemble in the temple of God to give thanks to the Almighty for the great things which had been accomplished by their countrymen in this hemisphere, in the cause of religion and civilization.

Several of the party, including the Count and Countess de Rochambeau and the Count de Lafayette, visited the beautiful Arlington cemetery Sunday afternoon, and Fort Myer, nearby.

Got Wet Riding With the President.

A quite unexpected feature of the afternoon and one which pleased the visitors very much, was an invitation from President Roosevelt to accompany him and several others on a horseback ride. The entire party assembled in front of the White House about 4 o'clock, the visitors in their uniforms making a very pretty picture in the bright afternoon sunlight. A photograph was taken of the group while there. The president guided the party through the northern section of the city until they reached the Zoological park. While in the park a storm began to gather and the party came home at a lively canter. The rain overtook them, however, and before reaching their stopping place the entire party was drenched. Those on horseback were President Roosevelt, his son Theodore and daughter Alice, Secretary Root and Senator Lodge and the following members of the Rochambeau mission: General Brugere, Vice Admiral Fournier, General Chalander and Captain Lasson.

The party left Washington at half-past 7 o'clock last night for Niagara Falls, via the Pennsylvania railroad. Those going included all the members of the mission, Ambassador and Madam Cambon and the members of the staff of the French embassy and the president's commission.

Washington, May 26.—Mr. Carol Norton, in a lecture delivered before a large audience in the Columbia theater Sunday, asserted that 2,000,000 cases of disease have been healed in Christian Science during the 35 years of its history, and in that time about 700 Christian Science churches have been established and are now flourishing.

He said that Christian Science was not faith cure, mind cure nor mesmerism, but that it heals the sick only through a scientific understanding of

A Playwright's Idea Of the Christ

By AUGUSTUS THOMAS, Playwright

In my mind's eye I am forever producing a drama in which the Man of Nazareth shall be the central figure. My Christ would not be the Christ of the painter. I would produce a man such as he must have been, strong and noble and merciful. He would be divine without effacing the traits of humanity and human without forgetting that he is divine. AS I SEE HIM NOW, HE MUST HAVE HAD A HIGH FOREHEAD. ABRAHAM LINCOLN HAD SUCH A BROW. It shows him to be the philanthropist that he was, the man of broad wisdom and humanity and benevolence. His nose would be perfectly straight and would lack the aggressiveness of the Semitic race. His eye is full and round and clear and mild.

He had a strong upper lip, such a one as will allow a man to suffer and wander in the wilderness and fast for forty days—just such an upper lip as Edwin Booth had. But under it I would have a full, sympathetic lower lip that would flavor with sweetness the words of wisdom that the tongue would speak. His jaw would be strong and firm. Its shape might even suggest a fleeting thought of resistance to the Roman sway. His head would be long, for if it were flat like those of the Jews he would be a nomad. But this he was not, for he loved his home and returned to its hearthside whenever he could.

He would be tall and well built and strong. His chest is deep, and when he drives the plane along the carpenter's bench he does it in an easy, graceful manner; or if he drags the heavy nets of fish from the water it is child's play. His clothes would be the most common. In winter I would give him the rough, heavy camel's hair mantle that would not show the marks of the dogs and the babies on the street as they climb up in his arms.

When I have formed my Christ, I would give him a task, the one he has already accomplished.

HE WOULD SCATTER ABROAD THE THOUGHT THAT ALL ARE EQUAL TILL, FINALLY MADDENED WITH THE IDEA, PEOPLE WOULD FLEE INTO THE WILDERNESS TO REALIZE IT. THEN, REALIZING ITS REALITY, THEY WOULD ASSERT THEMSELVES AND HURL KINGS AND EMPERORS FROM THEIR THRONES.

Finally the idea of democracy would take the whole world for its stage and, sweeping triumphantly along, would control the mechanism of our every activity.

ABOUT EIGHTY WERE MISSING.

Vancouver, B. C., May 26.—Colonel Pryor last night received two dispatches from Fernie. In one A. Dick, inspector of the mines, says: "All bodies in No. 3 mine and high lying positions of No. 2 (49) recovered. Air turned into west division near where other bodies are."

Mr. Armstrong, the government agent, says: "Forty bodies recovered; about 80 still missing; 24 escaped alive. No fire in mine. Jury impeached last night and adjourned for a week. Everything possible being done."

KILLED BY BURGLARS.

Wife's Version of the Death of Her Wealthy Husband.

Chicago, May 26.—Daniel Hill, a wealthy real estate owner, of Morris, Ill., and partner in the firm of the George H. Phillips company, on the Chicago board of trade, was shot and seriously wounded early Sunday, as he lay in bed at his residence, 797 Monroe street. Six shots were fired, three taking effect, one behind the left ear, one entering his nose and the other shattering his right arm. Considerable mystery surrounds the shooting.

According to Mrs. Hill, she and her husband were asleep, when Mr. Hill was awakened by the forcing of a lock on the bedroom door. He reached for a revolver, but before he could use it three men rushed into the room and fired at him. The first shot awoke Mrs. Hill and she rushed to the window and shouted for help. The police responded in a few minutes, but in the meantime the supposed burglars had made their escape.

Better Chinese Oppose It.

Pekin, May 26.—The failure of the efforts of a German firm to secure exclusive rights of selling opium throughout the Chinese empire, for which privilege the firm in question offered to pay the Chinese government $15,000,000 a year, appears to be assured on account of the opposition to the proposal of the better class of the ministers and the palace officials.

Pope Received Martinelli.

Rome, May 26.—The pope has received Cardinal Martinelli, who gave the pontiff an account of his mission and of the situation of the church in the United States.

FRENCHMEN HEARD GIBBONS

Attended St. Patrick's Church—Some Went Horseback Riding With the President.

Washington, May 26.—From indications last night the senate will devote another full week, if not a longer time, to consideration of the Philippine bill. The prediction is freely made that a vote will not be reached before the middle of the following week.

It is not expected that there will be any session of the senate on Friday, as that is Memorial day and a holiday. The practice of the senate in the matter of adjournment on Memorial day has not been uniform and there may be an effort to keep the senate in session, but this effort will be antagonized.

The continued deferment of the time for taking a vote on the Philippine measure has caused considerable abatement in the preparation for discussion of the Nicaragua canal bill and the Cuban reciprocity bill, which will be taken up next in succession or jointly. The beet sugar people predict a month's debate on the Nicaragua bill, but this prediction is not in accord with the views of the advocates of the Nicaragua bill or its opponents in the isthmian canal committee. Both these elements are now claiming a majority and are saying that the sooner the vote is reached the better they will be satisfied. The beet sugar men, however, are counting confidently on the co-operation of the side which finds itself in the minority in the matter of postponing the vote on the canal bill. In other words, the beet sugar advocates welcome the introduction of any question which will defer consideration of the Cuban bill, since they think that there will be no Cuban legislation at all if the taking up of that question can be postponed until after the passage of all the appropriation bills.

The appropriation bills should be passed before the first of July in order to supply money for the support of the government after that date, and they consequently expect that considerable time will be given during the month of June to the appropriation bills remaining undisposed of. They count confidently on the early adjournment of congress after the appropriation bills are out of the way, and they hint that if after that time there is an effort to pass the Cuban bill it will be incumbent on the friends of the bill to maintain a quorum in the senate. "It would be hardly fair," said a beet sugar Republican senator Sunday in discussing the contingency mentioned, "to expect the opponents of the proposed reduction to assist in prolonging a session in midsummer for the purpose of passing a measure which they do not want to see enacted into law."

There is still a considerable Republican element in the senate opposed to the tariff reduction, and it is asserted by the beet sugar men that the 45 Republicans necessary to pass the bill have not yet been secured. It is declared, however, that a practically unanimous vote should be secured for a rebate measure. The Rochambeau monument was unveiled Saturday.

Home Sweet Home!

Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam,
Be it ever so humble there's no place like home;
A charm from the skies seems to hallow us there
Which seek through the world is ne'er met with elsewhere.

An exile from home, pleasure dazzles in vain,
Ah, give me my lowly thatched cottage again,
The birds singing sweetly that came to my call,
Give me them and that peace of mind, dearer than all.

THE poet when he wrote these immortal verses touched a note that finds an echo in every Anglo-Saxon breast. How we love the sentiment expressed! Perhaps your home has been so varied by many movings that these lines don't find their responsive chord?

Is it wise to live in a house that is not your own, putting up with all the inconveniences of a tenant house, the ups and downs with the landlord and a thousand vexations that arise when almost by the reaching out of your hand a home comes within your reach? Through us is offered to you your choice of more than in the city, at all prices, in all locations and at all kinds of terms of purchase. Whether you have much money or little, we would like to have you see what we can do for you toward your owning a home. We are not entirely mercenary in this plea for your consideration. Profit we must have, yet we hope that your profit will be the greater. Hundreds of satisfied purchasers throughout the city will tell you of us. Come and let us do the thinking and planning for you that you may own a home, realizing that it is yours, and join in the chorus and sing

Home, home, sweet, sweet home
There's no place like home.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Six O'clock Dinner—Mrs. J. E. Ferrall pleasantly entertained a number of friends at a 6 o'clock dinner Friday evening. The affair was a most enjoyable one. Guests to the number of 12 were present.

Quarantine Raised—Sanitary Officer Burgess has raised the quarantine from Daniel Copestick's home on Forest street. A little child had been sick at the home for several weeks with scarlet fever.

Excursion Coming—The steamer Elizabeth, of Pittsburg, will run an excursion to this city on Memorial day. The boat made a trip on that day last year and the excursion is said to have been a great success.

Fell Down Stairs—Mrs. Charles McQuistan, residing on Jefferson street, fell down a flight of stairs at her home last evening and broke her right arm. She also sustained several bad cuts and bruises about the head and face.

Pleasant Party—Miss Emma Orr pleasantly entertained a number of her young friends Friday evening at her home on Lincoln avenue. During the evening games were played and at a late hour luncheon was served. About 25 guests were present.

Fire Department Horse Dead—Dolly, one of the favorite black horses at the central fire station for over a year, died Sunday morning from the effects of spasmodic colic. The animal was one of the best ever in the service of the city and the firemen are sorrowing over its demise.

Emerald's Lost—The Crocker City Junior base ball team defeated the Emeralds Saturday afternoon in a well-played and exciting game by a score of 6 to 5. Davidson and Meredith comprised the battery for the winning team and Duncan and Gibbons for the losers.

To Attend a Trial—The following gentlemen left today for Lisbon, where they will attend the trial of Mrs. Riley McKinnon against the East Liverpool Railway company: Drs. Geo. P. Ikert, James Taylor, W. A. Hobbs, T. J. Elliott and Attorneys Frank Grosshans and Jason H. Brookes.

Carrier Jessop Dangerously Ill—Mail Carrier Jessop, who has been very ill at his home on Spring street for several weeks, has been in a critical condition during the past few days. Friday evening he was said to be very low. His route at the postoffice is being looked after by Assistant Carrier William Carey.

New Car for Calcutta Hill—There will soon be two cars on the Calcutta hill road. Saturday afternoon Supt. Reed staked out the new switch on Jennings avenue and this morning work was commenced laying the switch. As soon as the switch is completed an additional car will be placed on this road, giving this district a 16-minute schedule, instead of 36 minutes. The new car will be equipped with the new patent safety.

MEMORIAL SERMON FULL OF PATRIOTISM

Rev. J. W. Gorrell's Address to the Patriotic Organizations Yesterday.

THE NATIONAL VICTORIES

And Why We Should Keep Them In Careful Remembrance—Blessed is the Country Whose Earth Contains the Dust of Heroes.

The memorial sermon preached to the G. A. R., W. R. C. and Sons of Veterans, Sunday morning, in the First Christian church by Rev. J. W. Gorrell, was one of the grandest of its kind ever listened to by the patriotic orders of the city. Every person present expressed himself as being delighted beyond measure, and many are the words of praise that have reached Rev. Mr. Gorrell from his pleased listeners. He said in part:

Fifty thousand memorial sermons preached today upon the same theme—the achievements of the past and the possibilities of the future, and responsibilities of the present. The keeping in remembrance great national victories is essential to national existence. Memorial days rivet upon our minds those events that are the mile posts in our political advancement and religious culture. By keeping this memorial day set apart by the G. A. R. we accept principles that gave this day birth. By keeping this memorial day we pledge ourselves that those principles written in the blood of the "boys in blue" upon the page of national constitution shall remain a part of our body politic forever. By keeping this day we honor the dead heroes and express gratitude to the living patriots who wrote the brightest page of the world's history.

We attend memorial services to acknowledge our dependence upon God for all spiritual and temporal blessings, to thank Him for the re-establishment of those principles of human liberty so long buried beneath the accumulated evil of centuries.

Blessed is that country whose graves contain the dust of heroes. There is a voice that speaks to us from the graves of our soldier dead, telling of the saving power of self-sacrifice; that noble and vigorous patriotism exalts, and that heroic death is a life giving stream "that flows from Calvary's mountain."

All immortality comes from the graves of our great and heroic dead. From their precious dust comes a wiser and larger liberty. All the world is greater and nobler as a result of what these dead heroes accomplished. Dead heroes? No, they live, and will live forever. They live in the glory of our history, in the world's new life and energy, in our reunited union, and exalted nationalism, our better laws, purer literature.

The war of the rebellion was a war of ideas, a war for their rights, and it marked the dawning of an eternal day of human liberty. The soldiers of the Rebellion have for 40 years been the body guard of our nation. They are object lessons of loyalty, friendship and charity. To teach the rising generation patriotism and devotion to the flag we need not go to Greece or Rome, but look to the examples in our own land.

Soldiers, there is a grand review coming. Your time for drill is passing. Have your moral armour bright so that it will not soil the white gloves

haps it is. There is certainly a great deal of what is called religion. The church and the world are so eminently Christian that they use much the same methods of controversy and live with much the same theories. Good and evil are lying flat together, side by side in amicable truce. No voice disturbs the general self-congratulation or questions the common morality. The world is very powerful, and hates to be disturbed in its pleasant vices and comfortable religions. So long, indeed, as prophets dreading its wrath and reverencing its power, obey the mandates to speak to its smooth things and to prophesy deceits, so long as the world is perfectly civil to them. Over both of these the stern fore-runner and the Lord of Love bursts the blinding hurricane of the world's hatred. But in John the Baptist once more, for the last time, a prophet burst on the indignant and astonished age. No smooth, sleek, worldly, well-to-do prophet, but a new Elijah, a new Isaiah; not mincing matters, calling a spade a spade, exposing, denouncing, speaking out, revealing the thoughts of many hearts, showing no cringing fear of the people in high places, calling Priests and Levites a generation of vipers.

The real word of God is precious in these days, when prophets prophesy falsely. But let us ask what is a true prophet? The true function of the prophet was to be the moral reformer of his age, a repairer of the breach, a restorer of "paths to dwell in." Sometimes, nay, often, a church or a nation lies like a ship becalmed on the tropic sea. The air around it is heavy with pestilence and with death.

How can there be in an age in which the chief gospel is to teach our boys and girls mainly how to get rich and how to get on; how every clerk may come to keep his carriage and every apprentice rise to be a senator, as though it were the very consummation of felicity to scrape up money and the supreme end of man to become a millionaire—how can there be no sin in this, if Christ be the main object?

I warn you, young ladies and young men, against the worship of this human, hollow, gilt idol which dwells into base mammon-worship so many who might otherwise have been, if not heroic, at least not so absolutely ignoble. Instead of this paltry lesson of prudential worldliness dwarfing men's lives to the narrow and impure horizon of the world, let us tell our young people of the great republic that the greater multitude of the very noblest and the very best, they who shine as the brightest stars in the firmament of human worth, they who on the dead levels of our common place have been among the mole-hills as mountains, and among the thistles as forest trees, have not got on in the vulgar sense at all? They have neither ridden in their carriages, nor flourished as the "green bay tree," nor left their substance to their babes; they have been the lowly, they have been hated, they have had to stand alone.

My young people, if to get rich is your ambition, Oh, get rich in heaven's name; if that be the best thing to do, so do it by honorable means and for generous objects; so you don't sell for it so much of soul as is left to you; so you mean to spend what God gives you for the good of others, at least in part, and not for your own selfishness, so you "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness that all other things may be added unto you." But if you want to do one fraction of the work of the prophet, you cannot serve God and Mammon.

What makes a man? Learning? The possession of a diploma? It may help make you a philosopher, scholar, sage, but learning by itself and outside of Christ leaves you undevout and frozen at heart. But with the knowledge you possess, if your soul be illuminated with the knowledge of God and of a world to come, from the calm of home and the discipline of school life, you enter upon the nobler and grander if sterner experiences of womanhood and manhood, which, safely passed through, shall bring you to the glory of Heaven. Amen.
